

HARBORS BILL TO COST U. S. IMMENSE SUM

Estimates of Total Range From $53,000,000 to $90,000,000 Instead of $36,000,000 Proposed.

SENATE MAY ACT AT THIS SESSION

Cries of "Pork Barrel" Greet Passage of Measure by House After Tumultuous Scenes.

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—An omnibus rivers and harbors bill, brought before the house last week as a $36,000,000 proposal, was passed today with a score of additional projects greatly increasing the total of its possible authorizations, after surviving one of the bitterest filibusters in recent years. Estimates of the total range from $52,000,000 to $90,000,000.

By a vote of 219 to 127 the measure was sent to the senate retaining all of its original 150 projects, including those for Illinois river development, reurvey of the all-American canal route across New York state, and government purchase of the Cape Cod canal for $11,500,000.

Cries of "Pork Barrel." An amendment for navigation development of the upper Missouri river, estimated to cost more than all other projects combined, was added amid cries of "pork barrel."

All amounts specified in the bill are maximum authorizations, based upon engineers' estimates of costs, for which appropriations must be made by congress in separate legislation to initiate work on any of the proposals.

Senate leaders will seek action on the measure at this session, Senator Wadsworth of New York, chairman of the republican steering committee, announced after the house had given its approval. In view of its controversial provisions, however, doubt was expressed in some quarters whether the bill could be put to a vote in the senate before adjournment.

House debate on the measure which centered about the Illinois river project on the contention that it involved the question of water diversion from Lake Michigan, was confined largely to dilatory tactics on parliamentary points of procedure in the attempt by opponents of diversion to block final action at this session of congress.

Opposes Proposed Changes. Last-minute attempts to eliminate the most controversial provisions failed as a well defined majority roared its opposition to proposed changes. Those bent on keeping the bill intact followed each victory with cries of "rote, vote," in an attempt to speed up final action on the measure over which a disorderly membership wrangled yesterday continuously for 14 hours, adjourning after 1 o'clock this morning with a vote in view.

The Illinois proposal calls for an expenditure of $1,340,000 for providing a nine-foot channel in the Illinois river between Utica and Grafton, Illinois, and removal of old government locks and dams, completing a waterway link between the Great Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico. A committee amendment specified that nothing in the bill shall be interpreted to affect the question of water diversion. At the present time, withdrawal of 4,250 cubic feet a second is allowed under a permit from the secretary of war.

Resurvey of the proposed all-American canal route by army engineers is proposed, with no specific expenditure authorized for this purpose.

An amendment by Representative Ellis, republican, Missouri, provides

Widow Is Arrested Following Death Of Paralytic Mate

Mrs. Maggie Cooper Held By Macon Officers Charged With Death of Husband on May 15.

MAN'S BROTHER CAUSES WARRANT

Woman Had Told Officers She Found Sick Man Aflame in Bedroom Late at Night.

Macon, Ga., June 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Maggie Cooper, who operates a grocery on the Columbus road near Littleton, was placed under arrest late today on a warrant charging her with the murder of her husband, Benjamin L. Cooper, 57, a paralytic, who died in a local hospital on May 15 from burns.

Mrs. Cooper told officers at the time that she awoke to find her husband in flames standing in a corner of her bedroom. She said that he had been in the habit of getting up during the night and smoking cigarettes.

T. J. Cooper, brother, swore to an affidavit under which the warrant was issued.

In giving an account of the discovery of the flames, Mrs. Cooper said she was awakened by the smothering cries of her husband and rushed to his aid found him slumped in a corner of the room, feebly beating at the flames that enveloped his entire body. She screamed for help and covered the blazing form of her husband in a rug, extinguishing the flames.

Physicians were summoned who gave first aid, and later he was moved to Macon hospital, but his burns were so severe that he died at noon the next day.

Cooper, who had been engaged in farming in this county for the past eight years, suffered a stroke of paralysis in 1924 and had never fully recovered, so that he was not very active, friends said. It had been his custom to smoke in bed.

The report of the fire as given by the widow was generally accepted here and the news of the arrest of the woman today created a sensation in the community.

The Bibb county grand jury has recessed until June 15 when it will investigate the death of Cooper.

Solicitor General Charles H. Garrett said that he had possession of a dying statement made by Cooper to the effect that he had not smoked a cigarette on the night that he was fatally burned. The statement, according to Garrett, said that Cooper said that he believed someone had set his clothing on fire.

Garrett said that his investigation showed that when neighbors arrived in response to cries of Mrs. Cooper they found her fully dressed and that nothing was burned in the house except the bed. Cooper was in the yard with his skin badly seared, Garrett said the neighbors told him.

MANN TO CONDUCT ACTIVE CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Brunswick, Ga., June 4.—(AP)—There is no significance to the closing of the Mann headquarters at the Kimball house in Atlanta, declares E. F. Mann, candidate for governor, here today.

Mr. Mann explained he had opened headquarters at the Oglethorpe hotel in Brunswick and would conduct an active campaign all during the summer. He further announced his intention of touring every county in the state on a speaking campaign.

EMORY TO INSIST UPON PROFESSORS OF SPIRITUAL TYPE

Trustee Board Says Instructors Must Be in Harmony With "Evangelical Christianity."

Expansion Fund Campaign Meeting With Success; New Board Members Elected.

BY SANDY CLOVER. Emory University, Ga., June 4.—Declaring that Emory university "was established primarily to promote evangelical Christianity and the culture which is inspired by and is harmonious with the Scriptural type of religion," the board of trustees of that institution at their annual meeting Friday ordered that no instructors be elected or retained who are not in harmony with these principles.

The resolutions reaffirming the Christian principles of the university were made public with the explanation that they were merely "a statement of policy, and not a criticism of any present members of the faculty, all of whom are believed to be definitely in sympathy with the action of the board."

Other important actions of the board were a decision to continue compulsory military training for the coming year; adoption of a plan to allow fraternities to build houses costing not less than $20,000 on the campus; election of two new members of the board and reelection of eight others, and reelection of all of the present officers.

The resolutions with regard to the religious beliefs of faculty members, which were drawn up by Bishop Warren A. Candler and were adopted unanimously, are as follows:

"In view of prevalent conditions in our country, and of sacred obligations of Emory university to its pious founders, and of its higher duties to the church that it was founded to serve, the board of trustees of the institution in annual session takes occasion to declare:

"1. That Emory university, while not sectarian in spirit or purpose, was established primarily to promote evangelical Christianity and the culture which is inspired by and is harmonious with the Scriptural type of religion. In its faculties are engaged men of various denominations, and no discrimination is made on account of denominational tenets among those employed to serve on its teaching force. In like manner students of all churches are admitted to its instruction, and no effort to proselyte them on the basis of faith is tolerated. But it is consistent with the mission of the

Titled Vienna Beauty Ends Life By Shot

Baroness Klinger Is Suicide After Husband and Admirer Fight Duel.

Vienna, June 4.—(AP)—The beautiful Baroness Klinger committed suicide today in her castle at Raasdorf, Austria.

This morning her husband went hunting with a guest, a Russian prince, Cyril Vladimir Orloff, to whose attentions to the baroness, it is alleged, he objected.

While moving through the forest after game, the baron was struck by a shot which pierced his lung. Believing it had been fired by the prince, Klinger fired at him, wounding him in the arm. Both men were taken to a hospital, and Orloff's wound subsequently ended her life in a fit of despair.

DUEL CAUSES WOMAN TO COMMIT SUICIDE. London, June 4.—(AP)—A version of the suicide of Baroness Klinger at her castle in lower Austria, told by the Vienna correspondent of the Daily Mail, says she shot herself upon hearing that her husband and Prince Cyril Orloff had both been wounded in a revolver duel on the grounds of their castle.

Baroness Klinger had invited Orloff and other guests to a fishing expedition. The baron, according to this version, resented Orloff's conduct toward the baroness, and a violent quarrel ended in a revolver fight. Orloff being shot in the arm and Klinger in the lung.

Paymaster Slain, Thief With Loot Captured and Identification of Girl Furnish Thrills.

AGED GUARD SHOT IN DARING HOLDUP

Bandits Lose Nerve and Flee Without Getting Money—Lone Gunman Escapes With $3,000.

BY FRANK GETTY. New York, June 4.—The murder of a paymaster, the capture of an international thief with $137,000 in loot, the identification of a college girl who stole $300,000 "for a thrill" and the exploits of a lone gunman who fled with $3,000 from a Brooklyn corner kept police of New York and vicinity busy Friday.

This sudden outbreak of crime, partly successful and partly otherwise, followed a period of several weeks during which police commissioner McLaughlin had been working desperately to "clean up" Greater New York and as a result the city was enjoying comparative immunity from serious lawlessness.

The murder of Paymaster Theodore Conway and the wounding of Hugo Schwernitz, a 62-year old guard, occurred in Newark and so could not be charged against the New York police, but the proximity of the hold-up in conjunction with the day's record for this city gave Commissioner McLaughlin little satisfaction.

Five bandits in a Ford automobile attempted to hold up the pay car of the Public Service Railway company. The men climbed aboard the pay car during the lunch hour, no one paying attention to them until Schwanitz detected their intentions. As the aged guard drew his revolver he was put out of commission by a shot through the head.

The intruders opened fire upon Conway, who sat helpless at his desk until his body riddled with bullets, crashed through a window of the car. Sacks of money totalling $14,000 lay at hand, but when employees, attracted by the shots, came running, the bandits lost their nerve and fled.

Rosenberg Arrested. Ecspelling in its interest the attempted robbery in Newark was the story of the arrest of Albert Rosenberg, international mail thief, aboard the Italian liner "Mastrea" in New York harbor last night.

This Rosenberg was one of five men who escaped in a motor boat from Ellis Island last November while they were awaiting deportation to Germany.

He and a woman, Frank Barra, were ironed when the George Washington docked Friday. Rosenberg had been caught after he had ripped open registered mail sacks during the vessel's eastward journey to Bremen. He had made away with $137,000 worth of mail when apprehended. All the loot was recovered.

Barra, employed aboard the George Washington, is accused of assisting Rosenberg to break into the mail sacks. Barra, after being held for several days out of New York.

An accountant's wife, a former college girl, went haughtily to jail Friday when held in $25,000 bail, charged with being a thief who has stolen more than $100,000 in jewels from Fifth avenue jewelers during the past four years.

She was Mrs. Mildred Derow, who scorned to answer questions, saying she "couldn't be bothered." She was arrested at the Ritz-Carlton hotel and released on the specific charge of having stolen a $600 diamond brooch from Kirkpatrick's.

The accused woman's husband was "amazed" at the charge. She herself, obviously in affluent circumstances, declined to comment, and her small son by a previous marriage tugged at her skirts and pleaded that "Mama couldn't have done anything wrong."

Barra, during morning hold up on one of that city's busiest corners, making away with $3,000 from a Schrafft's candy store, after the store doors were locked, the robber suddenly appeared before William J. Moriarty, a police sergeant, and was taken to the police station.

The dinner party of four was watched excitedly by more than a dozen persons, many of whom gathered when word spread that Harry and Evelyn were in the dining room.

Their primary reason for meeting.

TRIBUTE TO APPLE PAID AT UNVEILING OF BIG MONUMENT

Colorful Pageant at Cornelia Forms Part of Tribute to North Georgia Fruit.

ARKWRIGHT SPEAKS TO HUGE THROG

Thousands Witness Unveiling of Apple of Concrete and Steel Measuring Twenty-two Feet.

Impressive ceremonies marked the tribute of thousands to the Georgia apple Friday morning when a monument measuring 22 feet in circumference, and done in all the glorious natural colors of the luscious fruit, was unveiled on the railway station site at Cornelia, Ga. Several hundred persons took part in dedication exercises which were featured by a pageant and the principal address of Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company.

The monument is of steel and concrete, eight feet in height and six feet square at the base. On this pedestal is a huge apple of steel and concrete, seven feet in diameter and 22 feet in circumference, weighing 5,200 pounds. An inscription in gold letters reads as follows:

"Habeas Corpus, Georgia, Home of the Big Red Apple."

How Idea Originated. The idea of the monument originated with J. Frank Beck, well-known Atlanta. The Southern railway co-operated to the extent of transporting the apple from the artist's studio in Virginia and its erection and placing. Sponsors for the unveiling exercises were the city of Cornelia, the Consolidated Apple Growers' exchange, the Kiwanis club and the Habersham club.

Mr. Beck presided and prominent

WE NIG CAPTURES ORATORICAL HONOR

Los Angeles Youth Wins Championship; Two Girls Take Second and Third Places.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(Special).—Herbert Wenig, 17-year-old student of Hollywood High school, of Los Angeles, Cal., won the national oratorical contest here tonight out of a select field that gave him very close competition, including Joseph A. Mullarky, of Augusta, Georgia, representing Georgia and The Atlanta Constitution.

Second and third places went to two of the four girls who contested, Miss Myrtle Posey, of Washington, D. C., being awarded second place and Miss Helen Ryland, of New York city, third.

As a result of his victory, Wenig will represent the United States in the international contest here next October, with Miss Posey and Miss Ryland as alternates.

Mullarky made a splendid impression, and was given an ovation by a large delegation of Georgians who found Friday to have been the undoing of Carl Miller.

Miller is a German seaman, who despite a youthful appearance, has traveled the world. He was discharged from a vessel in San Francisco and secured permission from the immigration bureau there to cross the continent to Savannah, where he was to appear on another vessel.

Friday he turned up here at the office of the Travelers' Aid society, in the terminal station, "broke" and eager to get to Savannah. His case was referred to M. A. Copenhaver, immigration director here. But inasmuch as Miller was allowed 60 days before shipping at Savannah, under his original permit, he has only been in the country about half that time, his case did not come under the immigration authorities' jurisdiction.

An appeal for transportation therefore was sent to Savannah, to the German consular representative in that city. It is believed the funds to purchase a ticket to Savannah for the stranded son of Neptune will be forthcoming.

He would have had ample money to make the trip, he was stated, had he not succumbed to the temptations of American tailors and haberdashers and spent all his money on gorgeous raiment.

Al Smith's Daughter Gets $350,000 in Wedding Gifts

PRESENTS INCLUDE 2 CARLOADS OF FURNITURE

Albany, N. Y., June 4.—(AP)—Preceded by a fortune in gifts, hundreds of friends of Governor Smith streamed into the city tonight for the marriage tomorrow of the governor's eldest daughter, Miss Emily Smith, to Major John A. Warner, superintendent of state police.

Cardinal Hayes, of New York, will conduct the nuptial mass. Guests came to the capital by yacht, airplane, automobile and train. Fifteen hundred have been invited to attend the wedding, and 1,000 to the wedding breakfast at the executive mansion. Five private yachts came up the Hudson from New York.

The gifts, received up to tonight filled the second and third floors of the executive mansion and were estimated to be worth $350,000 or more. They included jewelry, 25 chests of silver, and two carloads of furniture for the four-room house in which Mr. and Mrs. Warner will live.

The wedding will be held in the cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, and as the bride and groom leave they will walk under an arch of garlands formed by national guard officers.

CHINA THREATENS TO TAKE ACTION AGAINST BRITAIN

Chinese on League Commission Demands England Prove Charges of Opium Traffic in China

Geneva, June 4.—International li-lie action against Great Britain was threatened Friday by Chao Hsin Chui, Chinese representative on the League of Nations opium commission, unless the British government could submit proof of charges that opium traffic was encouraged in China for the purpose of building up the treasury of one of its war lords.

Chao's threat followed the reading of British consular reports charging that General Ma Yu-jen, of Kiangsu province, had encouraged poppy raising and the opium traffic that he might well his war chest. Chao said that if the charges could be proved, General Ma would be arrested, but that if they were false, China would demand an indemnity.

Chao attacked unequal opium treaties in a reply to statements made by Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York city, regarding the quantities of drugs recently smuggled into China.

Woods, who is assessor to the league's advisory committee on traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs, said the United States was convinced that the only solution of the drug traffic was the placing of limitations on manufacturers.

The world faced the startling fact, he charged, that since the majority of nations had agreed to accept the American program for limiting harmful drugs to medical and scientific needs, smuggling had greatly increased. He gave figures to show that 30,000 ounces of morphine had been smuggled into China alone in recent months. He said that it was imperative every nation tighten its export restrictions governing drugs.

Chao, in his reply, said China was ready to adopt the league's system of import and export certificates on drugs, but because of the unequal opium treaties now in existence she had been obliged to wait for permission from the diplomatic corps in Peking. He declared that this reply had already been held up two years.

Lure of Togs Leaves Sailor Stranded Here

American Styles and Haberdashers Prove To Be Carl Miller's Undoing.

Lure of purple and fine linen was found Friday to have been the undoing of Carl Miller.

Miller is a German seaman, who despite a youthful appearance, has traveled the world. He was discharged from a vessel in San Francisco and secured permission from the immigration bureau there to cross the continent to Savannah, where he was to appear on another vessel.

Friday he turned up here at the office of the Travelers' Aid society, in the terminal station, "broke" and eager to get to Savannah. His case was referred to M. A. Copenhaver, immigration director here. But inasmuch as Miller was allowed 60 days before shipping at Savannah, under his original permit, he has only been in the country about half that time, his case did not come under the immigration authorities' jurisdiction.

ATLANTA PRISON GROUP WILL RAISE FUNDS FOR ACTION

If Measure Is Declared Unconstitutional Freedom Is Forecast for More Than 5,000 Addicts.

PRISON MAGAZINE OUTLINES DETAILS

Able Lawyers Are Retained To Try Case Squarely on Writ of Habeas Corpus.

A fund is to be raised among inmates of the federal prison here to test the constitutionality of the Harrison anti-narcotic act, according to an announcement in the latest issue of "Good Words," the prison publication, just from the press. It is pointed out that if the effort is successful and the act declared unconstitutional more than 5,000 drug addicts and peddlers of narcotics now confined in penitentiaries and jails will be released.

Details Are Bared. The story in "Good Words" says: "In an opinion rendered by the supreme court last January in the case of the United States vs. Donahoe, Mr. Associate Justice McReynolds practically challenged the fees of the Harrison narcotic act to bring the matter before the court on the single issue of constitutionality. This challenge has been accepted. Able lawyers have been retained who will take the issue into court squarely on a writ of habeas corpus, based on the claim that a selected prisoner has been unlawfully imprisoned on the ground that the Harrison act is unconstitutional."

Former Governor Thomas W. Hardwick and Hooper Alexander, former United States district attorney for the northern district of Georgia, it is understood, will be retained by the prison inmates for the test of the constitutionality of the Harrison act.

Attorneys stated that they preferred not to discuss the proposed case at this time, until they are more familiar with the details of the attack on the law as it has been contemplated by the men planning the court fight.

It is probable that the test case will be filed in the federal court here, in the near future, inasmuch as the move is originating in the penitentiary here and it is likely that the procedure will consist of habeas corpus proceedings to seek the freedom of a prisoner here, convicted under the Harrison narcotic act.

A committee consisting of Claude D. Smith, Albert Ingalls, George M. Sturgill and F. J. Sogge are raising the fund among the federal prisoners to test the constitutionality of the act, it is stated.

The attack, it is understood, is based

Three Youths Meet Death In Landslide

Two Boys Partly Suffocated But Are Resuscitated at Hospital.

Waterbury, Conn., June 4.—(AP)—Three of five playmates are dead and two are recovering from suffocation following a landslide of a 30-foot sand bank here tonight.

The dead are Eugene Scherell, 13; John Bowen, 10; Harold Sennel, 14. Robert Williams, 11, and Edward McDonald, 11, were partly suffocated but were resuscitated an hour later at a hospital.

One member of the group was partly buried as he prepared a hole to jump in on the bank. As his companions laughingly worked to extricate him, tons of sand descended upon them.

JURY CONCLUDES M'SWIGGIN PROBE

BY EARL J. JOHNSON.

Chicago, June 4.—Immediate removal of C. H. Jenkins, state welfare director, and Will Colvin, superintendent of the state division of pardons and paroles, "to check the flow of dangerous convicts back into the underworld of the city," has been recommended by the special grand jury which spent five weeks investigating the causes of the Chicago crime wave following the machine gun murder of Assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggin.

The special inquiry adjourned Friday night after returning a report in which it admitted complete failure in its efforts to solve the murder of McSwiggin or any of the other 86 killings which had occurred in the beer war here during the last two and a half years.

Prohibition Responsible.
The report declared, however, that gang murders were the result of the unpopularity of prohibition and the huge profits to be earned by its violation.

The report contained 12 sections, dealing with every phase of the crime wave, but named only three obscure saloon-keepers in its list of indictments. These were charged with conspiring to violate the Volstead act. Regarding prohibition, the report said: "Reputable citizens furnish a demand for illegal beverages. Gangsters profit from supplying the demand. Gangsters obtain revolvers, automatic pistols, sawed-off shotguns and machine guns without any difficulty."

"This combination has brought about an era of gang murders fundamentally resting upon the willingness of otherwise good citizens who persist in violating the law."

Crowe Commended.
Law enforcement officials, the Chicago police and the office of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, were commended for their efforts toward ending the gang wars, but the report said that they could not be expected to succeed while the community persisted in demanding liquor.

In recommending the removal of Jenkins and Colvin, the grand jury, which was directed in its inquiry by Attorney General Oscar Carleton, supported the findings of the Will county grand jury which recently demanded complete reorganization of the state penal system.

"The impression has been created in the penal institutions and among the people at large that money, and money alone, will secure the release of convicts from imprisonment," the report said. Referring to its failure to solve the McSwiggin case, the report said that "silence and sealed lips of gangsters make the solution of that crime, like many others, thus far impossible."

"Motorizing of the police department must be continued," said the report. "Crime today travels in high-powered automobiles and the police must at least be placed on an equal footing if crime is to be resisted."

PUBLICITY SEEN AS CRIME CAUSE BY GRAND JURORS

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Newspaper headlines which "seem to make heroes of some of these so-called super-criminals" were described as one of the outstanding causes of crime in a presentation handed up today by the outgoing King's county grand jury.

"There is evidently an increasing amount of crime among our younger generation," the presentation read, "and one of the outstanding causes seems to be that the headlines in our newspapers seem to make heroes of some of these so-called super-criminals. For instance, such criminals as Whittemore, Chapman, etc.—giving them front page publicity."

"It is the opinion of this body of grand jurors that if the public press would not lay such stress on their activities the younger generation would not be led and encouraged to emulate their apparent brilliant achievements."

reminded those assembled of the days when the flower of our youth went across to gladly sacrifice their all to save the homes and property of those who could not go. "I fail to understand," Senator Smith said in part, "why this great city seems to be having so much trouble in raising the meagre sum of $35,000 for the entertainment of these boys who were disabled in the service of their country. Surely, there must be more than 50 men in Atlanta, able and willing to donate $250 to this cause; and several times that many men who could easily part with $100! It is up to Atlanta to show that its patriotism has not perished and that it considers it a priceless honor and privilege to entertain this body of heroes. This city will gain as much in prestige by according them a fitting reception as it derived benefit from the days of Camp Gordon."

Other prominent speakers were James Hollomon, who delivered an inspirational talk; W. D. Hoffman, president of the chamber of commerce; Julian V. Boehm, chairman of the convention executive committee; Joseph H. McCord, former governor of the federal reserve bank; Dr. Charles W. Daniels, president of the Christian council; Dr. N. R. H. Moor, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church; J. R. Bachman and others.

The fund collected thus far amounts to less than $14,000. In an effort to awaken the masses to a realization of what the convention means to Atlanta, both from a point of view of

BOOTLEG RING IN VIRGINIA IS BROKEN UP

Roanoke, Va., June 4.—(AP)—With lightning-like strokes, federal prohibition agents here today battered to pieces what they described as the worst bootleg ring in Virginia. Directed by Prohibition Administrator Fulwiler, 15 federal agents, assisted by United States deputy marshals and under-cover men, rounded up 17 alleged liquor law violators, 13 white men and four negroes, each said to be an integral part of the run-running organization.

Indictments against the men will be presented the federal grand jury in session here next week. With the harvest from today's raids added to those which have gone before, more than 100 indictments against alleged prohibition law violators will be presented the grand jury, it is said.

LAWYERS ELECT WARREN GRICE

Savannah, Ga., June 4.—(AP)—Interest in the second day's session of the Georgia bar association in convention here centered today in the election of officers. Warren Grice, of Macon, was elected president; John B. Gamble, of Athens, was chosen first vice president; Logan Bleckley, of Atlanta, treasurer, and H. F. Lawson, of Hawkinsville, secretary.

District vice presidents: First, Edwin A. Cohen, Savannah; second, Walter H. Bart, Albany; third, R. B. Jones, Dawson; fourth, J. Madden Hatcher, Columbus; fifth, Blair Foster, Atlanta; sixth, W. H. Key, Monticello; seventh, W. B. Shaw, LaFayette; eighth, John B. Gamble, Athens; ninth, William Butt, Blue Ridge; tenth, John C. Lewis, Sparta; eleventh, Sam T. Harrell, Quitman; twelfth, John S. Adams, Dublin.

Executive committee: A. W. Cozart, Columbus, chairman; R. B. Troutman, Atlanta; Henry Fulbright, Waynesboro; A. R. Lawton, Jr., Savannah; John S. Wood, Canton.

circuit, and the reports of various committees on technical subjects connected with the bar association. Committee reports were submitted by various committee chairmen. R. M. Arnold, of Columbus, submitted the report of the committee on legislation and reported that practically no measure sponsored by the Georgia bar association had been enacted into law by the general assembly. Paul H. Doyle, member of the bar association and member of the legislature, said that it was his opinion that the surest way in the world to kill a bill was to permit the knowledge that the bill had been sponsored by the association and be favored, instead of having the bills introduced en masse, that they be distributed among various members and introduced at various times.

Harry Strozzer, secretary, introduced a resolution made necessary by biennial sessions of the legislature, that the committee on legislation of 1925 hold over to 1927 and that from 1927 forward, that committee serve for two years instead of one as has been the case in the past. The resolution was adopted.

E. Smythe Gambrell, of Atlanta, introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a commission to study legal aid work. The resolution was referred to the committee on resolutions.

"We wish to voice our disapproval of the 'unlawful search and seizure' which has been upheld by the Georgia supreme court, but which has been held by the supreme court of the United States to be unlawful and unconstitutional," said the report of the committee on jurisprudence, law reform and procedure, which report was submitted by E. K. Wilcox, of Valdosta.

The committee also voiced its disapproval and urged the repeal of the indeterminate sentence act of 1919 in so far as it applies to juries imposing maximum and minimum sentences without leaving that to the discretion of the presiding judge. The committee is of the opinion that it results in inequitable sentences in various sections.

The committee further stated that it had made a number of valuable suggestions as to needed legislation but that none of them had received favorable action at the hands of the lawmakers. Their enactment was again urged.

Opposes Judgeship Bill. The committee on federal legislation submitted its report through Barry Wright, of Rome. Committee indorses the bill now pending for increased salaries for federal judges, and considers that its passage is almost assured, while the committee vigorously opposes the proposed plan by which federal judges would be appointed for a specific length of time, possibly six years, instead of being appointed for life as at present. The committee strongly condemns the bill now pending which "would muzzle federal judges."

Motion was made to adopt the report but this brought about considerable debate owing to a paragraph relative to the United States government having the right to interfere with the trial of cases in the state courts. Upon the expurgation of this paragraph, the report was adopted and by unanimous vote the association decided to mail to each national representative and each senator from Georgia a copy of the report.

The committee on interstate law submitted its report through R. C. Alston, of Atlanta, its tenor being approval of the efforts to secure uniformity of state laws, and pledged itself to lend its support to the national conference on uniform laws. The association appropriated $200 as a portion of Georgia's share toward the expenses of the national conference.

President Branch named the delegates from Georgia to the meeting of the American bar association and conference of representatives from state and local bar associations, which meeting is to be held in Denver, Colo. Those named were Judge Peter W. Meldrim, Savannah; Orville A. Park,

Macon; A. G. Powell, Atlanta; alternates, A. S. Bradley, Swainsboro; A. B. Lovett, Savannah; D. G. Fogarty, Augusta.

WIFE WHO KILLS HUSBAND BARRED FROM INSURANCE

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—A wife cannot kill her husband and collect his war bonus, says Comptroller General McCarl.

Florence Williams, of Verona, Pa., was convicted of killing her husband but sentence was suspended. McCarl decided she could not collect from the adjusted compensation certificate of her husband, William C. Williams, although she was designated the beneficiary.

Neither can the certificate be cashed for Williams' estate, he ruled. Therefore it must be cancelled.

Wright Still Holds Fort; Architect Released After Arrest Wife Planning Next Move

Spring Green, Wis., June 4.—(P)—Frank Lloyd Wright, arrested this morning on a peace warrant sworn out by his wife, was safe in his hill-top villa here tonight while his estranged wife, Mrs. Miriam Noel Wright, contemplated in a hotel room her next move to gain entrance and find a sanctuary within its picturesque walls. Wright was released shortly after his arrest.

Repulsed dramatically when she sought last night to enter Taliesin, the international architect's Japanese style bungalow, in which she once was mistress, Mrs. Wright remained in bed under a physician's care while she planned to enlist the aid of H. M. Lander, Baraboo attorney, in a court action to force her entrance and thereby regain a home. Lander was one of her attorneys at the recent hearing in Madison when she thwarted Wright's attempt to obtain a divorce.

Although the divorce suit was dismissed, no provision was made for her support, and it is for food and shelter that she insists she is fighting.

It was reported today that Wright left a sum of money with county authorities to be paid to his wife.

Regarding Wisconsin as "too hostile" to her, Mrs. Wright declared she would seek separate maintenance in the Illinois courts.

Wright returned to Taliesin from Dodgeville, where he was taken at daybreak by a deputy who arrested him on a peace warrant sworn out by Mrs. Wright, charging him with threatening her. When he reached Dodgeville, district Attorney N. S. Boardman advised his release.

speakers on the program included Mayor Will E. Fort, of Cornelia, one of John C. Fort, one of the first apple growers of the section, who delivered an address of welcome, which followed invocation, rendered by Miss Sallie Lou Hill, of Cornelia.

Joe J. F. Ray, representing the Kiwanis club, was the next speaker, and was followed by W. B. Hunter, representing the Habersham club, James A. Hollom, of The Constitution, J. M. Murrell, of Washington, D. C., horticultural agent for the Southern railway, H. L. Hungerford, of Greenville, S. C., also of the Southern, and Lauren Foreman, of the Southern's public relations department, were other speakers.

"The apple and water power are not so far apart," began Mr. Arkwright. "The apple is perhaps the most ancient of fruits. It existed in prehistoric times. The high altitude, the abundant rainfall, the broken terrain of our territory makes it possible for you to produce good apples, just as it makes it possible for us to produce power."

"We have built up in the past 15 years, so that now people don't have to come to the mountains to get their delicious apples. They don't have to come to the mountains to get their power to run their industries. We gather the force of the mountain streams and we are sending it out and down to the rest of the state and to the plains to let our mountain streams do their work for them, wipe the sweat from their men's faces and take the burden off their women's backs."

By Their Fruits.

"We have the same conditions producing good apples—good water power, good men, fine location for industry, all coming from the mountains—God's mountains—and we by their fruits shall know them. God's mountains are filled with love to man," Mr. Arkwright said.

The unveiling took place after an elaborate pageant staged under the direction of Miss Selma Lewis. The pageant, with Miss Evelyn Randall as the apple blossom and Miss Sarah Cline as the queen, depicted the choice of the apple blossom as the most beautiful of flowers by the most beautiful of nature. Forty-eight young women participated.

The guests were given a basket dinner at noon, and then the mountain and in the afternoon were taken for automobile rides through the apple orchards around the city.

for approval of an army engineer's report made 18 years ago on the advisability of providing a six-foot channel in the Missouri river between Kansas City, Mo., and St. Louis, Mo., a distance of 400 miles.

Some opponents of the project, which calls for no expenditure now, estimated that it would cost $50,000,000 for completion, twice the amount estimated by engineers 18 years ago.

The bill approved today also would authorize more than 120 surveys of rivers and harbors with a view to navigation, water power, flood control or irrigation improvements.

Party lines were disregarded on the vote, representatives from the Mississippi valley, the south, Illinois and N. C. England generally supporting it, while those from states bordering on the Great Lakes for the most part lined up against it.

institution and unfaithful to the obligations of those who serve it for any professor or instructor to oppose the essential principles of the Christian faith for which it stands and which it is set to serve. No demands of sound learning require such opposition.

"2. Therefore, the board of trustees calls upon all who serve as members of the several faculties of the university to respect and to observe these moral and religious bases upon which the institution is founded. No man honestly seeks or retains such a position who is unable or unwilling to serve in harmony with the principles upon which the institution rests."

The board of trustees requests and directs the president and the executive committee to engage no professor or instructor, nor to retain one who is not in harmony with these principles.

The decision to continue compulsory military training for freshmen and sophomores was made after a petition signed by 200 students and several faculty members, had been presented asking that membership in the R. O. T. C. unit be made optional.

The request of the fraternities to be allowed to build homes upon the campus was acted upon favorably, and the finance committee was authorized to lend the chapters 60 per cent of the cost of construction, providing the total be at least $20,000.

Two new members of the board, one from Georgia and the other from North Carolina, were elected, and eight members whose terms expired at the present meeting were re-elected for the full term of eight years. The new trustees are Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of Macon, and James A. Gray, of Winston-Salem, N. C. The trustees re-elected are Hon. Asa G. Candler, Sr., Atlanta; Bishop W. A. Candler, Atlanta; Bishop James E. Dickey, Waco, Texas; J. J. Gray, Jr., Rockdale, Tenn.; Dr. A. J. Lamar, Nashville, Tenn.; J. O. Smith, Greenwood, S. C.; J. A. Stewart, Louisville, Ky., and W. D. Thomson, Atlanta.

By-laws of the board were changed to allow the election by the alumni of the university of three trustees. The present honorary trustees of Emory college, Dr. E. H. Johnson, Thomas W. Connally, and H. H. Stone, were chosen to fill these positions for the coming year.

President Harvey W. Cox reported that $784,196 has been subscribed by Atlantans to the $10,000,000 Emory expansion fund in response to the university's recent appeal for $750,000 from that city. The president declared that the campaign was meeting with gratifying success in other parts of the country and expressed confidence that the entire amount sought would be raised well within the 10-year period.

The board decided to begin work upon two additional stories to the chemistry building, to cost approximately $75,000, as the next step in the university's construction program.

Degree Voted.

An honorary degree of doctor of laws was authorized for Dr. D. M.

Key, president of Millsaps college, Jackson, Miss., to be conferred at the approaching commencement. Bishop H. M. Dubose, of the M. E. church, south, was elected as special lecturer in archaeology, in recognition of his research in that field.

The officers who were re-elected, after resolutions had been adopted praising them for their past work are: President, Asa G. Candler, Sr., Atlanta; vice president, Bishop U. V. W. Darlington, Huntington, W. Va., and secretary, W. D. Thomson, Atlanta.

The meeting of the board Friday opened Emory's 85th annual commencement season. Next on the program will be the baccalaureate sermon at 11 o'clock Sunday morning by Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, pastor of St. John's M. E. church, south, St. Louis, Mo. Monday will be alumni day, with all classes whose years end with '6 '71 scheduled to hold reunions. The baccalaureate address will be delivered at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning by Chase S. Osburn, former governor of Michigan. At this final ceremony degrees will be conferred upon 198 students.

All of the exercises will be held in a large tent which has been erected on the campus in front of the educational building on Clifton road. Open houses also will be observed at the new library from 2 to 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, at which time the public is invited to inspect the structure.

Wesley Memorial hospital, it was reported at the meeting, has spent $28,486 on charity work during the past year, while contributions for this purpose totaled $9,191 during the same period.

Total enrollment for the school year 1925-26 was 3,329, according to the registrar's report.

REV. F. J. MASHBURN CALLED BY DEATH

Stricken Friday night with apoplexy while sitting on the front porch of his home, the Rev. Frederick Jackson Mashburn, 61, retired Methodist minister of 290 St. Charles avenue, died shortly afterward without regaining consciousness.

The stroke came unexpectedly and shortly after Mr. Mashburn arrived home from the city. Apparently he had been in good health for some time.

Rev. Mashburn was a minister for 25 years, serving several large churches in the North Georgia Methodist conference. Five years ago he began educational promotion enterprises, traveling not only in the south, but in the north and west.

For years he was an active member of Piedmont Masonic lodge.

He was born in Decatur, Ga., September 3, 1865, and was a graduate of Emory university. Besides his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Miss Guita F. Bearman, of Minneapolis, and Miss Ann Hardin, of Louisville, Ky.

The huge auditorium was packed to capacity. A special detail of 25 policemen was present to handle the crowd, assisted by members of the student body of Georgia Tech.

Cheers from the various school delegations swept through the auditorium time after time. There were 5,000 school boys and girls present.

Every one of the speakers had a supporting delegation in the audience. Mashburn was cheered on by a sizeable representation of Georgians and a delegation of students from his school, Richmond academy, at Augusta.

As he spoke, his words were carried by radio to his mother back home.

The contest here tonight came as the climax of a full day for the contestants.

President and Mrs. Coolidge welcomed the seven orators at the white house at noon today. From the white house the group was taken to Eastern High school and tendered a luncheon by Eastern High school students. Following the luncheon they were formally introduced to the Eastern pupils at a special assembly.

From Eastern High school the party of oratorical winners were taken to the capitol where they were formally received by Speaker of the House Nicholas Longworth and Vice President Dawes, presiding officer of the senate.

were in the audience which filled the auditorium.

The selections were by no means unanimous, each of the five judges rating the speakers in differing orders, it was learned. The reports of the various judges, however, were not made public.

Mullarky's stage appearance was splendid, his voice carried well, and his delivery was good.

Others who took part were Thomas P. Clair, of Philadelphia; Miss Guita F. Bearman, of Minneapolis, and Miss Ann Hardin, of Louisville, Ky.

FARMER DAN BILL 9 PERSONS HURT OFFERED BY BRAND IN AUTO MISHAPS IN SENATE RUL

Washington, June 4.—(Special.)—Representative Brand, of Athens, has introduced in the house a bill for creation of a federal farmers' loan corporation, which would lend money to owners of land whose lands are now lying idle and to the tenant class who own no land.

"No similar bill has ever heretofore been introduced in congress," Brand said.

"My purpose in introducing it is not to take the place of any of the agricultural bills now pending in the house and senate, but to take care of a class of farmers in the United States, both landowners and tenants, who have quit farming for the want of money to operate the farms."

The corporation would have a capital stock of $200,000,000 subscribed by the government. It would exist for five years, after the expiration of which no loans will be made.

The money for capitalization, under the bill, would come from the nearly $300,000,000 now in the treasury as the accumulated amount of excise taxes collected from cotton growers of the south between 1893 and 1898, which the southern states contend was collected illegally. This money really belongs to the farmers, Brand said, and not to the government and therefore his bill would take nothing from the treasury. Bills are now pending in congress to allow the states where this money was collected to sue the federal government for its return.

The bill gives authority to the secretary of agriculture to cooperate with federal and state agencies. Those who would be eligible for loans are owners of land who need money and cannot otherwise borrow it; farmers who own no land but want to purchase and stock land for the purpose of farming; tenants who own no lands but want to farm, and need money for purchase of seed, food supplies, fertilizer, live stock and equipment.

Loans could also be secured to discharge mortgages or other liens on farm lands which are now idle because of lack of money to operate them.

"Present loan agencies," Brand said, "are not taking care of this class of farmers and thousands of thousands of acres of land, not only in Georgia and other southern states but in western states are lying idle because this class of farmers has no money and can't borrow it from existing agencies for the purpose of cultivating lands."

Security Classes.

Security for loans is provided for as follows:

By mortgage on real estate owned by the farmer; by mortgage on real estate which the farmer desires to purchase for farming; by mortgage or lien on personal property; by business receipts and shipping documents on agricultural products; for the tenant class by mortgage or lien on growing crops or crop to be grown; and loans either to the landowners or tenant class upon personal indorsement.

The terms of loans are as follows:

Loans on real estate shall run for 15 years, shall bear interest at the rate of two per cent per annum after five years from date of the loan, but shall not bear interest for the first five years.

Loans on personal property shall run for three years from the date of the loan, with interest at the rate of two per cent after the expiration of one year, with no interest for the first year.

Loans on agricultural products and crops growing and to be grown, shall run for one year and shall bear interest at the rate of one per cent.

Loans on personal indorsement, not in excess of $1,000, at the rate of two per cent.

9 PERSONS HURT IN AUTO MISHAPS

Nine persons were injured in a series of automobile accidents during Friday, according to police and hospital records.

Friday's first victim was 5-year-old Grace Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Crawford, of 2 Evelyn place, who is in the Grady hospital, perhaps fatally hurt, according to surgeons.

Grace, doctors stated, probably has a fractured skull, and is severely bruised and cut. They fear she may be hurt internally.

She was struck down by a truck belonging to a local baking company, it was reported. It was said to have been operated by W. R. Sibley. The driver stopped and offered every assistance, the mother said.

The little girl, police were told, ran from behind a street car standing at the end of the English avenue line and was struck down by the truck. She had just left her mother in the family automobile to enter a drug store across the street and purchase an ice cream cone.

Woman Run Down.

Miss Mabel Hyer, of 20 Paige avenue, was injured early Friday night when struck down on Marietta street near five points. The car which struck Miss Hyer was driven by K. H. Haller, of the Citizens and Southern Bank building, who took the injured woman to her home where she was placed under the care of a physician. Patrolman W. B. Chatham, was requested by Miss Hyer not to make a case against Haller, it was said.

Unit W. T. Quinn, of 238 East Ormond street, can explain how he was injured early Friday night and for which he was treated at Grady hospital, he will be held at police station, under charges of suspicion, according to police, who are investigating.

According to information given Call Officers Cartwright and Brackett, Quinn was picked up on Decatur street, near Pratt street, by J. L. Fritchard, 27 Estoria street, and Clarence Owens, 16 Estoria street, and carried to the hospital.

Mason Ward, of 115 North Whiteford avenue, was badly shaken up and bruised in an automobile crash between his car and one driven by a negro, George Anderson, 70 Fitzgerald street, at Edgewood avenue and Spruce street, according to police.

In the car with Anderson were Amos Chambers and his wife, and Jim Harris, all negroes, who were given treatment at Grady hospital. The accident was investigated by Patrolman F. C. Foster.

Agnes Negro Injured.

Randolph Hillard, 70 negro, of 113 Currier street, was taken to Grady hospital after being knocked down by a light coupe at the intersection of Peachtree and Ivy streets, early Friday night, according to information given Police Officer T. D. Albright.

According to witnesses, the coupe that struck the negro sped on after the accident, and was said to have been driven by a young woman. The license number of the car was given to police, and an arrest is expected during the day, it was stated by police.

The Harrison anti-narcotic law is only a federal statute and is not constitutional amendment, and, though foes of the law admit that the statute might be constitutional as the selling of narcotics, they claim it is "obviously unconstitutional" if it attempts to wrest the rights of the individual to possess narcotics for personal consumption."

Basis for Court Suit.

Contests point out that the difference between the anti-drug law and the anti-liquor law, is that the liquor laws were passed in the form of constitutional amendment, and secured the rights to possess which the federal constitution guaranteed, while the Harrison anti-narcotic law which is a statute could not rescind any right guaranteed in the constitution.

A TEST OF SINCERITY.

The Constitution notes with affirmation what appears to be the unanimous expression of the members of the police board to give Chief Beavers a free hand in the administration of the affairs of the police department. The test of sincerity will come at the meeting of the board next week when the chief will make his recommendations as to his administrative staff—the men under him who are to be jointly responsible for the efficient administration of the service.

Unless these men are in absolute harmony with the chief he cannot be held responsible for inefficient administration. If the board hampers him in his selection of his assistants it will be tantamount to putting the public on notice that the chief resumes the duties of his position ham-strung and hog-tied as he was before.

The enforcement of law and order, the protection of life and property, the safety of the streets, the security of homes—all of these functions, the fundamentals upon which a city's safety value as a place of residence, rest largely upon him as the controlling head of the police department.

With him other protective branches of government must necessarily cooperate for efficiency.
The protection of the health of the city is dependent upon the department specifically charged with that function, but that department must cooperate with and have the cooperation of the police department.

The protection of property against fires is dependent specifically upon the fire department, but in turn the fire department must have the cooperation of and must cooperate with the police department.

The whole fabric of city government to a controlling extent revolves about the police department.
Its efficiency or inefficiency bears directly upon good government in every branch.

No administrative department can be efficient that is conducted by more than one head, and at cross purposes.

Whatever else may be said of Chief Beavers he is honest.
As to his efficiency no test in his past record can be cited to dis-prove it. He was hampered and ham-strung throughout his administration and never given a free hand at control.

If there is a repetition of the same treatment, the morale of the department will be broken, and the underworld will menace the safety and security of every citizen and every property in Atlanta.

VIII.
MAKES FOR REDUCTION!
Following closely the statement attributed to President Coolidge that further reductions in federal taxes could not be made next year or possibly for some years, the treasury report issued June 1 shows that at the end of the present fiscal year, June 30, there will be a surplus of $300,000,000, or $100,- 000,000 in excess of that anticipated by the president at the time he last asked congress to reduce taxes effective March 15.

IX.
It appears therefore that the condition of the treasury will fully warrant another reduction effective March 15, 1927, and that if the administration is adverse to such a course the democrats will seize upon it as a campaign issue, and at the beginning of the next session push for an additional cut.

In this it will be fully warranted in the light of present anticipations. The increase of the surplus, following the last reduction in rates, very clearly justifies the position taken by Secretary Mellon that a reduction in the high bracket on surplus taxes would actually increase rather than decrease the revenues.
The fact is the revenues from this class of taxpayers are heavier on the whole than last year, which fully sustains that position.

XI.
It is natural, therefore, to apply the same logic to further reductions in these rates particularly, and in all the schedules. This, in addition to the actual surplus, which is always over and above the reserve set aside for the retirement of the national debt, warrants the belief that the people will demand another reduction in 1927, unless there is a decided change—now un-anticipated—in the treasury balances.

Looking and Listening

BY SAM W. SMALL.
Senator Borah's entry upon the stage with the congressional comedy now being played upon the theme of national prohibition is not a surprise. Fourteen years ago he introduced me to the prohibition movement in his home city of Boise with a strong words for prohibition as any man could devise and utter. The surprise is that he should be willing to submit to a popular referendum.

There is a story that he is utterly tired. I imagine, as many millions are,
of being told that national prohibition is a minority enactment and that “the people,” if given the chance, would repeal it. Senator Borah is so confident that the people would repeal it that he is willing to go to bat with the opposition on the proposition. In that he exhibits his accustomed courage.

The real issue in prohibition, however, would not be settled by a popular referendum on the eighteenth amendment. It is as sure as the sun that the amendment would be sustained by more than enough states to keep it in the constitution and that result would leave us right where we are. Congress and the states would still have the problem of enforcing it on their hands. The conditions of enforcement in state and local freedom of manufacture other than the restriction of the voluntariness of enforcement of the Volstead law.

There is a growing feeling among conservative men that experience is proving that the eighteenth amendment is wrong in form. They think the liquor traffic should be dealt with by government and that drastically. They know that state opo-sition, such as existed before the eleventh amendment, is not the relief to be returned to. They will never agree that one or several states shall be free to manufacture and distill intoxicating liquors and flood them into other states that do not want them, and do it lawlessly. What they want is a national enactment that can be enforced with uniform efficiency and effects because it will be respected always to popular desire and will.

The proposition thus advanced is to submit to the people the states for satisfaction or rejection, by conventions elected for the purpose, a substitute for the present eighteenth amendment in terms substantially as follows:

“The congress shall have power to regulate or prohibit the traffic in intoxicating liquors, in whatever form, for whatever use, and in what ever source derived, and shall enforce such regulations and prohibitions by all necessary and appropriate means.”

Under such an amendment, if ratified, the congress would have such power as it now has over revenues, income tax and internal revenues. It could establish uniform regulations for permissible liquor traffic, or it could prohibit such traffic in part, or in toto as now. In other words the congress, representing the people, and liable to new mandate from them every two years, would have plenary power to deal with this subject as the people should demand.

The objection that such a system would make the liquor problem a continuous political issue is beside the mark. It is that sort of issue now and will continue to be a mooted one until the human appetite for drink becomes obsolete. And if it should be a continuous issue, we will be kept awake to all its phases, alive to the enforcement of whatever the law may be, and at least, enjoy the satisfaction of liberty to contend for the sort of law we want. In other words, the best way to prohibition is the democratic way.

State Street Wins Attendance Trophy For Sixteenth Year

Punctuality plus—Miss Mamie L. Pitts, principal of State Street school, and her students
Friday were awarded the attendance record trophy of the Atlanta public school system for the sixteenth consecutive year.
The annual percentage of the State Street aggregation for the year, according to figures by M. E. Coleman, director of the census and attendance bureau, was 97.6, which far exceeds the batting average of Babe Ruth or Ty Cobb.

A total of 101 students won State Street trophies for having established a perfect attendance record for the 1925-26 school term. Buttons are awarded by Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools.

Little Miss Athena Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jones, has established a record of having attended school every school day for the past year. She is a close friend of the unequaled by any other Atlanta student.

The four schools setting the next highest record for the year follow:
Stewart Avenue, 96.8; Bass Junior High, 96.2; Peoples, 95.8, and Davis, 95.6.
There was only 2 per cent difference between the leader and the trailer of the list of the five leading institutions.

Chicago, June 4.—(AP)—A $1,000-00 suit to recover one-third of the value of coal and iron lands in which the late Francis R. Dennis, Chicago broker, held interests was filed today by his widow, Mrs. Florence G. Dennis, of Indian Springs, Fla., and W. J. Smith, of Birmingham, Ala., president of Alabama Coal and Iron company, and John W. Baker, of Chicago, an official of the company. She claimed the company refused to make a settlement with her and death of her husband July 15, 1924.

Alabama Press Indorses Power Bid on Shoals

Auburn, Ala., June 4.—(AP)—Resolutions indorsing the action of the Alabama Senate in recommending the recommendation of the Associated Power companies' bid for the Muscle
Shoals were passed by the Alabama
Press association here.

The resolution follows:
“Whereas, an unbiased committee of clever United States government experts serving as advisors to the joint committee of the house and senate has recommended the bid of the Associated Power companies as being far more advantageous to the people and the government from the standpoint of fertilizer performance, financial return as well as satisfactory as to national defense, and “Whereas, a majority of the members of the joint committee recommended to congress the acceptance of this proposal, be it Resolved, That in view of the study of these authorities, and that the Alabama Press association concurs in the recommendations of both the national congress and the acceptance of the power companies' bid in the interest of our nation, the south, and our state.”

NO CLUE YET FOUND TO MISSING PASTOR

Los Angeles, Calif., June 4.—(AP)— Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the missing evangelist, Alvin S. McPherson, in a statement today, announced that the patrol of the Santa Monica bay front, which has been carried on by members of her congregation night and day since the woman pastor disappeared at Ocean Park on May 13 would be abandoned tomorrow.

The beach hunt for the evangelist's body will be conducted with automobiles and continued indefinitely, however, Mrs. Kennedy said. She declared the evangelist's followers are broken hearted.

“Not a Downcast Head”
“Yet there is not a downcast head, nor are we looking beyond the waves and beyond the valley to the golden light of the city four square of which she taught.”
Official, semi-official and private searches for a solution of the Mc-Pherson mystery have been almost at a standstill for lack of clues.
Her body had not been recovered from the ocean and no person can be found who knew her going down while swimming; she has been reported seen at points as far north as Biggs in Butte county, and rumored held by kidnapers or hiding for private reasons in various places. A French settlement and it is expected to encounter determined opposition whether she is alive or dead.

Sheikh W. L. Tragger received a letter from Long Beach signed “The Willow of the Wisp,” with “The Gyp” for an alias, stating that Mrs. McPherson could be found either in the mountains back of Santa Barbara or in a lonely spot along the Santa Ynez river, the captive of a band of kidnapers.

The letter which was turned over to the sheriff's homicide detail without comment, read as follows:
“Dear Bill: It might happen to interest you to know that Alvin
S. McPherson was kidnapped and is being held either willingly or unwillingly.”
“I know all about it, but am afraid to go, so be careful not to reveal my name. I am not revealing my identity as the gang will croak me if I squeal.

KIWANIS DELEGATION OFF FOR CONVENTION

With suit cases filled with Georgia products, the state's contingent to the international meeting of Kiwanis clubs in Montreal, Canada, left the Terminal station early Friday about 200 strong. Before returning home the representatives will visit the seesaw-centennial exposition in Philadelphia and enjoy a stopover in New York.

W. B. Gibbs, of Jessup, representing Waynes county, carried a bag containing sugar cane syrup, sugar, honey, wheat, tobacco, cotton and other products.
Delegates will display Georgia products include V. L. Collier, of Fitzgerald; Dr. C. B. Greer, of Brunswick; Stephen Pace, of Americus; H.
W. Shealey, of Oglethorpe, and many others.

William A. Hansell, chief of construction of the city of Atlanta, Fri-

SHRINERS END MEET IN PHILADELPHIA
Philadelphia, June 4.—(AP)—Their 32nd imperial council convoked over a week of magnificent spectacles and gala events at an end, nobles of the Mystic Shrine left today for their homes.

The police said one of the greatest crowds in the history of the city was here for the Shriner's festivities, which came to a close last night with an allegorical historical pageant and Shriner's garb in the municipal auditorium at the esplanade and electrical display. Hundreds of red-tipped visitors were still on the street today, but every departing train took its quota home.

Next year Atlantic City will be the mecca for the Shriner's, the imperial council having decided to hold the 1927 convention in the seashore resort June 14, 15 and 16.

Helen Wills Undergoes Operation in Paris

American Champion Will Not Compete In Wimbledon Meet

California Girl May Also Be Missing From American Tournament at Forest Hills—Miss Goss Will Take Helen's Place in France.

BY RALPH HEINZEN.

Neuilly, France, June 4.—Helen Wills, American tennis champion, is recovering from an operation for appendicitis which was performed suddenly and successfully at the American hospital here Friday.

There is now no possibility of the California girl meeting Suzanne Lenglen in a return match in France this year.

Miss Wills wept when taken to the hospital, but her tears were those of disappointment because she must miss her chance to turn the tables on the French champion.

The doctors who performed the operation quieted Helen by assuring her that she would be able to play within a month, but this means that she will miss the all-comers tournament at Wimbledon as well as the rest of the hard court championships at Paris.

"Helen had been feeling badly for several days," Mrs. Wills, the American girl's mother, informed the United Press. "But it was only this morning that she had a severe attack."

CALLS DOCTOR

"Of course, I called in the doctor immediately and he diagnosed the trouble as appendicitis."

"Helen, knowing this would mean the end of her tennis for a time, refused to have an operation at first, but about 5 o'clock this afternoon the pain became so severe that she had to give in and go to the hospital."

The American champion was forced to scratch from the Paris hard court championships, defaulting to Katarina Boumer, of Holland. She was to have participated in the Wightman cup matches as well as the all-comers championship, but probably will be unable to play again before returning to the United States.

When Miss Wills refused to submit to an operation, her physicians told her frankly that it might mean death. They refused to take the responsibility if her mother waited to communicate with the tennis champion's father in California.

Helen had spent months of preparation for two important events, the first a return match against Miss Lenglen in Paris and the other the Wimbledon tournament. Her art studies were shunted aside and all parties and travels were sacrificed by the California girl who went to the racing club every morning where she practiced with the club professional, Darvall.

She had entertained high hopes of carrying home the glory of having defeated the incomparable Suzanne. Now, while her mother insists that Miss Wills' illness is not the Wimbledon entry lists, it is realized that she only wants to cheer the patient.

It is regarded as certain that Helen will be unable to play before September.

Suffers Severe Pain. "This trouble undoubtedly had been coming on for a long time," said Mrs. Wills after the operation. "Helen's friends kept telling her to have the operation, but she wouldn't listen."

"Helen had been feeling very bad for some time," said Mrs. Wills. "She had been feeling very bad for some time."

SUZANNE REGRETS TO HEAR NEWS OF HELEN

Paris, June 4.—"I am absolutely overcome and terribly sorry," said Suzanne Lenglen to the United Press when she heard that her tennis rival, Helen Wills, had been forced to undergo an operation for appendicitis which put the American champion out of the running for international honors this year.

"I hadn't dreamed Helen was so ill," the French star continued. "It's true she didn't appear so well lately."

"I intend to go to the American hospital just as soon as she can receive callers. Naturally, I don't want to say anything about the possibility of our meeting again across the net."

"She and I were both entered in this tournament. (The hard court championships now in progress in Paris). It's terribly bad luck for her."

hospital before the end of the month, but we refuse to let her play tennis during the summer."

MISS GOSS CALLED UPON TO SUB FOR STAR.

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Tennis officials, voicing regret over the illness which has forced Helen Wills out of the hard court championship at Paris, also view with concern tonight the possibility that the American champion would not be able to defend her title in the national tournament at Forest Hills, N. Y., starting August 16.

It is taken for granted that Miss Wills will not recover in time to participate in any further tournaments abroad, including the Wightman cup matches with Great Britain as well as the Wimbledon championships at the end of this month. This is particularly keen blow to the California girl's admirers, many of whom felt that, following her close match with Miss Suzanne Lenglen last February, she had an excellent chance of carrying off world honors abroad.

Her place probably will be taken by Miss Eleanor Goss, of New York, who went abroad as an alternate. Miss Molla B. Mallory, former champion, also is an American team at her own request. Miss Mary K. Browne is captain of the women's team. The team members are Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup.

Speaking for the international play committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association, Julian S. Myrick said:

"I am extremely sorry to hear of Miss Wills' misfortune. It is just plain hard luck. Naturally, it weakens the American team, but Miss Mary K. Browne is in charge of our team and I have great faith in her judgment. Any arrangement of the players will be made by her entirely at her own discretion."

Member of Fight Board Is Fired

Harrisburg, Pa., June 4.—(AP)—Summary removal of William H. Ropac, of Philadelphia, as a member of the athletic commission was announced here today by Governor Pitt.

The removal follows a statement by Mr. Ropac in a letter made public at the state athletic commission, effective immediately, the governor wrote today.

"So that there may be no further misunderstanding as to your status I hereby remove you as a member of the state athletic commission, effective immediately," the governor wrote today.

The sudden attack of appendicitis was admitted a great blow to the young Californian. She had not her heart upon meeting the French champion Lenglen and now may never have another chance. The French girl won, 6-3, 8-6, when the two champions met on the Rive last winter, but Helen has been quietly confident that she would reverse the decision at their next meeting.

Two New Hurlers Sign With Lions

Montgomery, Ala., June 4.—(AP)—Two new pitchers have been added to the Lions' hurling corps, it was announced by the local club management today.

Paul Tubb, former University of Alabama star, captain of the team during 1934, was induced to sign the dotted line today, while Lefty Roe, former Southern league moundman, was purchased from the Jackson, Miss., club of the Cotton States league.

Little Crackers Battle Today

Just before the big Crackers go into action this afternoon, the Little Crackers will tangle with the Marlin Hawks in a Sandlot league game at Spiller's field.

The affair will start at noon, and tickets will be good for admission both to the youngsters' game and to the Atlanta-Chattanooga game.

Tennesseean Suicides.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 4.—(AP)—J. H. McCannell, an aged resident of Bradley county, was found yesterday hanging from a rafter in the barn of his son, S. M. McCannell. The aged man had been in ill health for some time. He used a log chain tied to the rafter and some made of hanging wire. When found he was still alive but in a serious condition and little hope is expressed for his recovery.

FIRST PICTURES OF AMERICANS IN BRITISH AMATEUR TOURNEY

Copyright, 1938, by Kadel & Herbert.

The picture at the upper left shows "Bobby" Jones about to recover from a bad shot in which he overran the green on the 13th hole at Muirfield. This picture was taken before the Atlanta star hit his stride which carried him at the top of his team through the Walker cup matches at St. Andrews. Bob won the match in which the picture was taken by a score of 3 and 2 over Major C. B. Ormerod, former British champion of the army, shown standing on the green above Bobby's head. At the upper right Alfred C. Ulmer, young Tampa star, is shown at the end of a drive in his match with Roger Wethered in the amateur tourney. Wethered, who later defeated Francis Ouimet in the Walker cup singles, beat Ulmer by one hole. One of the most surprising events of the first day of the amateur was the defeat of Cyril Tolley, shown at the lower left. Tolley was snapped while following the Tuesday match in company with Miss Joyce Wethered, former women's champion. The worried expression caught on the face of the former British champion may reflect his vision of "the handwriting on the wall" as the Americans continued to surge toward the championship. At the lower right, Major C. O. Hezlet, who went 36 holes to a draw with George Von Elm in the Walker cup singles, is shown driving from the 7th tee in his match with H. G. McCallum, won by the latter, 4 and 3.

MANY STARS ARE EXPECTED IN BIG SHOOT

Some of the south's best shooters are expected to enter the southern divisional tournament to be held here June 21-22, according to announcement made Friday by officials of the tournament.

The trophies offered in the tournament are said to be of considerable value and an expensive ever to be offered in the south, in addition to $3,000 added cash.

A new feature of the tournament is the team contest. The team scoring the highest amount of points will be given $250; the second highest will receive $150; and the third will get $100.

In addition to the other prizes, each of the 25 highest guns on all targets will receive a prize of $10. The first 500 single targets, the first 64 shooters will be bracketed off in groups of 16 each, and an elimination shoot will be held on every 100 targets.

The winner of each bracket will be given $15, with the runner up getting $10. The shooting will start promptly at 9 o'clock daily.

The team to represent the southern district at the grand American handicap at Dayton, Ohio, will be chosen from the men who shoot the 200 targets constituting the zone single championship. The highest five will be allowed to represent this district at Dayton.

The schedule for each of the four days follows:

Monday, June 21—200 singles, class championships (six classes).

Tuesday, June 22—50 pair doubles, zone championship; 100 singles, Maplewood hundred.

Wednesday, June 23—200 singles, zone championship.

Thursday, June 24—100 handicap, preliminary handicap, 100 handicap, zone championship.

LIBERAL REFUSES MISSION OF PEACE

(Copyright, 1938, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

London, July 4.—There was a fresh sensation in the Lord Oxford-Lloyd George quarrel today when W. Runciman, one of three envoys appointed at the meeting of the liberal parliament yesterday to convey to Lord Oxford and Aquilath the sense of the meeting, in favor of unity of the party, announced that he refused to undertake the mission.

Mr. Runciman is a member of the great ship-owning family and has been known as one of the bitterest enemies of Lloyd George in Lord Oxford's following.

Lord Oxford himself, speaking at a luncheon today at the National Liberal club in honor of Sir John Simon, declared that he had explained his views definitely and unequivocally in a letter to Mr. Lloyd George and he had nothing to add and nothing to take away from it.

The next move is with Lloyd George, who speaks tomorrow at Manchester Reform club.

Goldstrom Completes Half Of Globe-Circling Dash

LEAVES CHITA TODAY IN SOVIET AIRPLANE

BY ANNA LOUISE STRONG. (Special correspondent of The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Moscow, June 4.—Tomorrow morning John Goldstrom will leave Chita in an airplane volunteered by the Soviet government to catch a Trans-Siberian train which will arrive in Harbin Saturday morning, June 5.

This will give the Japanese flyers who are to carry him from Harbin to Yokohama two days to make the first of about 1,100 miles. Goldstrom's boat, the President Madison, leaves Yokohama for Victoria June 7.

Wine state department officials solved Goldstrom's principal problem which was to make a connection at Chita for Harbin.

The success or failure of Goldstrom's effort now depends almost entirely on the Japanese flyers. Once aboard the President Madison his journey will be merely that of the ordinary tourist to Victoria and from Victoria to New York he will follow the common route of the United States mail.

Goldstrom has now completed more than half of his circuit of the earth.

Insane Mother Slays Tots And Then Poisons Herself

"MY SOUL IS DAMNED," NOTE SAYS

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, Ill., June 4.—Suffering from a delusion that she was an object of ridicule, Mrs. Margaret Tillman, 32 years old, killed her 2-year-old son and her 2-month-old daughter with poison today, and committed suicide by swallowing a large dose of the same drug.

The three bodies were discovered late in the afternoon by Mrs. Tillman's daughter, Margaret, 9 years old. The girl had been given a key by her mother when she was leaving for school, indicating that the murders and suicide had been carefully planned.

Melvin, the boy, and Mary, the girl, had been carefully placed on the bed by the mother, whose body was lying on the floor.

In a note to her husband, Melvin Tillman, assistant sales manager of the Alabama Wire company, the woman told of her mental turmoil.

CONCESSION PROBE ASKED BY BORAH

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—Arouned by reports that British interests have obtained concessions on vast tracts of public lands in Panama on both sides of the canal zone, Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, introduced a resolution today calling on the state and war departments for all available information on the subject.

Immediate consideration of the resolution was requested by Senator Borah but on objection by the republican leader, Senator Curtis, Kansas, the measure went over until tomorrow when action again will be sought.

That this government already has investigated the concessions was made clear later in the day at the white house where President Coolidge was said to understand that they were surface and subsoil concessions to a British corporation and without objectionable features. The president assumed, however, that the government departments involved would continue their inquiries to make sure that the contracts were satisfactory so far as the interests of this country are concerned.

Will Produce Rubber.

Senator Borah's understanding is that the concessions were obtained for the purpose of producing rubber and he has presented his data to a number of senators as well as to the war and commerce departments.

While state department officials declined to comment, it was learned that a concession was made to British interests by Panama more than a year ago and that the text of the concession is in the hands of that department. It covers prospecting rights for gold and subsoil minerals in two large areas.

Officers of the state department have not thought it necessary to take up the subject with the Panama government in diplomatic correspondence since on its face the concession appears to be a typical grant for the exploitation only of mineral deposits.

Senator Borah's resolution deals with concessions which may have been obtained by the British government and calls for the completion of all correspondence and all communications had with the British government relative to such concessions.

NO DECISION REACHED ON NEW PROHIBITION ORDER

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—A senate judiciary subcommittee failed today to reach a final conclusion as to the legality of President Coolidge's order authorizing the employment of state officers as federal prohibition enforcement agents.

Chairman Cummings mediated in a radio address tonight that the subcommittee would hold that the appointment of a proper state officer by the attorney general or the commissioner of internal revenue to act as a federal prohibition agent "is within their constitutional power."

"It is generally understood," he added, "that the president's order is in effect, a declaration of policy."

NO DECISION IS MADE ON TAX APPEAL BOARD

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—The senate failed today in a 3-minute executive session to confirm the 16 nominations to the board of tax appeals which had been sent back to the finance committee last week for further investigation.

Objection has been raised to some of the appointments on the grounds that their previous service in the internal revenue bureau would disqualify them from deciding appeals on cases which they had handled there. The senate will consider nominations again tomorrow.

FARLEY STANDS PAT ON WILLS FIGHTING JACK

New York, June 4.—(AP)—If Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills are prevented from fighting in New York state by "political or other interference," the Walker law "should be tossed into the Harlem river and buried in this state forever," said James A. Farley, chairman of the New York state athletic commission today.

At the same time Farley threatened Tex Rickard with disbarment if he continued negotiations to match Gene Tunney with Dempsey.

"I have fostered the cause of Wills ever since I have been a member of the commission because I conscientiously believe the negro is entitled to first consideration as an opponent for Dempsey," Farley said. "If there is any tangible reason for objecting to a Dempsey-Wills match I have not heard it."

"If Tex Rickard attempts to evade the effect of this board by matching Gene Tunney with Dempsey and takes the fight to New Jersey, I will recommend to the license commission that Rickard's license be revoked and that he be barred from participation in the promotion of boxing in New York state as long as I am a member of the commission."

"This affair has irritated me to such an extent that I will go the limit to see it through."

"Personally, I don't believe Dempsey wants to fight. I don't think he'll ever fight again. He has evaded every issue since 1925, when he last defended his title against Luis Angel Firpo."

"I used to get a lot of fun out of guiding the destinies of boxing in New York. But now it is different. I get mad every time I think of Rickard's open defiance to our orders. He will not come in here and talk us into any Tunney match. The last time he was in here he was given to understand that Wills was to be Dempsey's opponent and he said he would come back in 30 days and announce what progress he had made toward signing them, but he hasn't come yet."

DEMPEY SELECTS NEW TRAINING CAMP.

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 4.—(AP)—Camp Vigil in the Rocky mountains, an hour's ride by automobile from the town of Manitou, is Jack Dempsey's new summer training camp where he will prepare for his titular bout next fall.

The camp is located at an altitude of 8,000 feet. Dempsey said he believed rigorous training at this high altitude would help him build up and develop his "wind." The camp is the summer home of the Mountain Trails association, with a large central clubhouse and many surrounding cabins.

At least 12 miles of road work a day and plenty of wood chopping will constitute the bulk of his conditioning program, when he returns June 25 to open the camp. Dempsey said. He expects to spend his spare time casting the fly for elusive trout.

Dempsey's wife will leave here tomorrow morning for Los Angeles, traveling by way of Salt Lake City. Gene Normie, his manager, and Normie left tonight for San Diego.

PIEDMONT INSTITUTE ERECTS DORMITORY

Waycross, Ga., June 4.—(AP)—Foundation has been laid for the new boys' dormitory of the Piedmont institute here. The structure is being erected at a cost of $43,000.

Its addition to the present campus will make the institution one of the largest in the Georgia Baptist system.

Object has been raised to some of the appointments on the grounds that their previous service in the internal revenue bureau would disqualify them from deciding appeals on cases which they had handled there. The senate will consider nominations again tomorrow.

Free Rein for Chief Beavers In Running Police Department Is Demanded by Mrs. Andrews

Tells Mayor Sims Women Seek Test of Chief's Ability To Clean Up City.

Complete control of the police department by Chief James L. Beavers in order that his ability to clean up Atlanta may be fairly tested, was advocated by Mrs. J. E. Andrews, president of the Atlanta Women's Civic Council, in an interview Friday with Mayor Walter A. Sims.

Mrs. Andrews, speaking on behalf of organized womanhood of the city, appealed to the mayor to use his influence to make Beavers chief "in fact as well as in name," to permit him to select his assistant chief and make other appointments as he sees fit in an effort to secure greatest efficiency within the force.

"If this is done by the police committee," Mrs. Andrews told the mayor, "the women of Atlanta will stand squarely behind you all in your work to eliminate whisky, vice and other conditions which are nothing short of terrible."

"If Beavers fails after he has been given a full chance, the women will be the first to call his hands off," she declared. "We want to see if he is really the man we believe he is, the man who has the right principles and the right purposes. We demand that he be given the time and the power to show what he can do to relieve an appalling situation."

Women Want Leader.

She declared that women of Atlanta wanted the responsibility of conducting the police department placed in the hands of one man and said that Chief Beavers, in view of his recent court victory, is the man for the job.

"We want the police committee to turn over the administration of the police force to Beavers, and if this is done the women will back him to the limit in efforts to rid Atlanta of vice conditions," Mrs. Andrews said. "Chief Beavers has the place as head of the police department at the time being and he should not be handicapped in any way in running the department. We will back him in a fight to clean up Atlanta, and if he fails after being given full authority, we will be the first to call for his resignation."

Mrs. Andrews said every kind of business must have a responsible head and that the Atlanta police department is one of the most important organizations in the city. It should be headed by one man with full authority and charged with responsibility of its operation, she declared.

"The chief of police should be permitted to appoint his own assistant chief," Mrs. Andrews said. "The police committee of council should not handicap the chief by naming his first assistant. Now that the courts have sustained Chief Beavers as head of the department for the time being at any rate, we want to see some results obtained in cleaning up this city and providing protection for the women of Atlanta."

Mrs. Andrews said the women had held an open meeting to protest against the naming of Chief Beavers to the position of chief of police. Captain Grover C. Fain or Captain A. J. Holcomb as assistant chief of police.

Reform Activities.

Following her conference with the mayor, who assured Mrs. Andrews of his desire to do all in his power to serve the best interests of Atlanta, the woman reform leader asked The Constitution to quote her in reply to Alderman Guy Dobbs, who Friday issued a denunciation of the women's attack on alleged "informing" activities within the ranks.

"Mr. Dobbs says that the Atlanta police department is one of the best in the country," she said. "If this is true, I would enlarge upon Francis Scott Key's poem of praise to the powers that preserve us as a nation, and would pray to those same powers to keep preserving us. We would need their help."

Mrs. Andrews and her associates in civic reform work have caused several sensations in Atlanta recently. The first came when Mrs. Andrews charged drunkenness on the floor of the city council. When a showdown on this charge came, Alderman J. Allen Couch was forced to issue a public apology and council filed indirect charges against several other members without a formal investigation.

Later Mrs. Andrews and the other women carried their fight for moral reform to the police department, and charged openly before council's police committee that the department is "shot through with corruption and that certain officers are informing whisky dealers and disorderly houses of impending raids."

They demanded that the police committee lead a sweeping clean-up both within and without the department, and were assured by Alderman W. R. Hartsfield, chairman of the committee, that all would be done in this direction that was possible.

MERCER TO HONOR ATLANTA CITIZENS

Macon, Ga., June 4.—(Special).—The names of two Atlanta citizens are included in a list of five upon whom Mercer university will confer honorary degrees at the closing exercises of the university on June 8. Hugh M. Willet, well known insurance man, and W. H. Major, pastor of the Capital Avenue Baptist church, are the Atlantans to receive degrees.

Mercer will confer five honorary degrees it is announced. The others besides the Atlantans to be honored are, W. H. Kilpatrick, of Columbia university; W. C. Jackson, vice president of the North Carolina college for women, and John R. Jester, prominent North Carolina minister.

GIRL WHO ESCAPED FROM REFORMATORY SOUGHT IN ATLANTA

New Orleans, June 4.—(P).—Department of justice agents here were notified today of the recent escape from the Rutland, Vt., reformatory of Helen Kealey, convicted in federal court in New Orleans several weeks ago of transporting stolen vehicles.

The 18-year-old girl was found guilty when tried with her husband, "Kinky" Kealey, Ala. Maynard, Herbert Fink and A. J. Fabcher. She is alleged to have assisted in bringing stolen automobiles from Fort Worth, Dallas, and other Texas cities to New Orleans. Maynard, the young woman and Kealey were each sentenced to two years imprisonment. Department of justice agents said government authorities are now searching for the fugitive in Atlanta, Ga., believing that she might attempt to free her husband, now an inmate of the federal penitentiary.

FRENCH OFFICER KILLS COMMANDER OF BANDIT PARTY

Paris, June 4.—(P).—A Havas dispatch from Beirut says that Lieutenant Collet, commanding a French squadron, single-handedly killed Chief Ahmed Maraved of a marauding band in the vicinity of Mt. Hermon. The bandits left 42 dead on the field. Six machine guns and 30 horses were captured.

FORGER WILL SERVE LONG TERM IN GANG

M. Markowitz was found guilty by a jury in Judge Edgar R. Pomeroy's division of Fulton superior court Friday on an indictment charging forgery of a check for $2,885 on a local bank and was sentenced to serve seven years on the chain-gang.

Markowitz was indicted recently by the Fulton county grand jury in cases charging forgery of checks on Atlanta banks. There are five other cases pending against him which will be tried immediately, according to attaches in the office of Solicitor General John A. Boykin.

According to evidence Markowitz went to a local bank during business hours just prior to closing time and deposited a number of checks to his account. The prosecution alleged that the checks were fictitious and were signed by Markowitz who was known by several aliases.

Early Monday he would rush into the bank and state that he wanted a check cashed for a specified amount, less than the amount deposited, and bank employees would cash it.

After receiving approximately $4,000 from Atlanta banks in this manner Markowitz fled to New York, where he was arrested recently. Extrajudicial papers asked granted heavily defendant was brought back to Atlanta to stand trial. L. P. Whitfield, of the American Bankers' association, returned him to Atlanta.

En route to this city Markowitz was alleged to have explained to Officer Whitfield that his mother, who lives in Poland, was in need of money and that he got the money to send to her. Receipts showing that the money had been sent to the foreign country were produced. Officer Whitfield by Markowitz, it is stated, Solicitor General John H. Hudson prosecuted the case for the state and his argument ended with a recommendation by the jury after 25 minutes deliberation. Claude Brackett, Atlanta attorney, represented the defendant.

'Faith Healer' Escapes Wrath Of Negro Mob

Birmingham, Ala., June 4.—(P).—Trouble was averted today when a crowd of negroes, threatening to take C. M. Grace, "faith" healer and M. M. Madden, assistant from authorities, were persuaded to leave the vicinity of the Jefferson county jail.

When news of the "healer's" arrest spread through the negro section this afternoon, a crowd of about 500 persons gathered at the county jail and are said to have conducted themselves in a threatening manner. Some of them voiced their intention of taking Grace and his assistant from the authorities and freeing them, officers reported. One of the negro men prevailed on the crowd to disperse, warning them that if they persisted in standing around, there might be serious trouble.

The "faith" healer and his assistant were placed in jail on charges of practicing medicine without a license and inducing to riot. The styled "prophet" has been swaying large audiences of negroes in tent meetings in North Birmingham and stories of his collecting buckets full of money from his congregation had reached authorities.

Grace, a swarthy faced man, who claims to be a native of Portugal, was accompanied by two negro women in a large automobile when arrested. He was placed under $5,000 bond.

His career was brought to a close as a result of a sermon said to have been Thursday night when he is charged with urging 2,000 negroes to stand up their "rights" and obtain social equality. A squad of police and state law enforcement officers attended the meeting.

The "faith" healer claims to have effected many miraculous cures. He had been selling "charmed" handkerchiefs, prayer books and other tokens which he claimed would ward off illness and trouble.

STORM IN TEXAS CAUSES $25,000 LOSS

Palestine, Texas, June 4.—(P).—Damage estimated at from $25,000 to $35,000 was caused by lightning and a rainstorm approaching cloud-burst proportions here today. More than three inches of rain fell within an hour. Electric power service to a large section of the city was interrupted when lightning struck a power cable.

NEW SEWERAGE LINES REPORTED FAVORABLY

Additional sewerage lines were reported favorably Friday by the sewer committee on the following streets: Kenyon from the West Point railway to Wylie; Delta place from the Georgia railway to Wylie street; Amanda from South Kenyon near the railway crossing; Madison from Castleberry to West Fair; Packard from Madison to the Southern railway, and Herman from Kenyon to Berne.

Other routine business was transacted. The meeting was held in Mayor Walter A. Sims' office and was presided over by Councilman Wylie Moore, chairman. Recommendations will go to council for approval at the Monday session.

GEORGE A. ECKFORD UNDERGOES KNIFE

George Adair Eckford, prominent young advertising expert of Atlanta, was reported Friday as undergoing an operation for appendicitis at St. Joseph's infirmary. Mr. Eckford was expected to recover completely within two or three weeks' time.

He was taken suddenly ill Thursday, rushed to St. Joseph's and operated on immediately. Physicians said that he stood the operation well as well as could have been expected.

SHOWERS EXPECTED BY WEATHER OFFICE

Conditions are favorable for occasional showers for two days and temporarily the mercury's steady climb has been halted. C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, predicted Friday.

"Saturday will see showers about the same as Friday and indications are that Sunday will be no different," he said. "Right now everything seems to be shaping up for general showers of rain over the state and they will probably continue for two or three days."

Comparative readings of the maximum temperatures for Thursday and Friday show a difference of 13 degrees, the highest for Friday being 85 degrees as against 98 degrees Thursday.

The maximum reading for Friday will be 75 degrees and the lowest will be 65 degrees. Mr. von Herrmann predicted. The minimum temperature Friday was 66 degrees.

Exiled Bar-Tenders Ready To Return When Wanted Here

Information came to Atlanta Thursday that Harry Craddock still lives. This fact will prove of immense interest to many Americans, for Harry Craddock's smiling face, with its rosy cheeks and beaming eyes, has quickened the budding vanity of thousands of vainglorious American gentlemen, just as they were peeping across the bars at themselves into the bright, soap-lettered mirror to admire their own reflections.

It was always at this point that Harry, humble soul, deprecating egotistic self-admirer, would step to the opposite side of the bar with his twinkling, twinkling inquiry: "And now what'll it be, gent?"

Harry Craddock, self-styled "expert cocktail mixer of the United States of America," is rattling ice inside cocktail shakers behind the bar of the Hotel Savoy, London. Now Harry writes to say that he wishes "to deny a rumor which has reached me frequently during the past few months. For, though I haven't been in the United States since 1918, I naturally look up to it as 'home'."

Harry sets us right. "It seems," continues Craddock's letter, "that folks over in the States have been expelling the past few months. I, the first and finest bartender of his kind in the world, have ceased to exist. The Yankee Branson, Michigan, came up to me here in London the other day and said: 'Harry, I didn't think that your kind still lived.'"

"Well, I want to tell everybody that the American bartender, though he has been expelled through force of circumstances from his spiritual home (spiritual in more ways than one), he still carries on bravely. He is still as proud of his profession and still waving the silver shaker, and is ready to come back whenever he is wanted. And his argument ended with a recommendation by the jury after 25 minutes deliberation. Claude Brackett, Atlanta attorney, represented the defendant.

"Don't believe it when you hear that the Yankee cocktail shaker has forgotten his traditions, even though he is scattered between London and Shanghai, Bombay and Buenos Aires. He is still at the Hoffman house on Broadway (where, by the way, I had the questionable privilege of mixing and serving the last legal cocktail sold in the United States), I tended the thirsty with a choice of about 40 different cocktails.

"Forty, gentlemen. If you come and look me up today in London I can give you a choice of some 280 different cocktails, which shows we have not been wasting our time and that somebody still likes them."

And with the letter Harry Craddock enclosed his "list of cocktails, coolers, daiises, fizzes, flips, highballs, lemonades, punches, rickys, smashes, soups, liqueurs and cordials, frappes."

Harry's list, reprinted in part for old time's sake, follows:

Senior Hop and Breakfast Are Gala Events of Commencement

The senior hop, one of the most brilliant events of the entire season and an outstanding event during Tech commencement, took place Friday evening in the Tech gymnasium. The occasion marked the reunion of many old-time alumni and former friends of the college. Douglas Wycoff, of Little Rock, Ark., president of the senior class, led the dance with Miss Jeannette Bailey. Ivan Williams assisted. During the evening the Anak society conducted ceremonies of initiation.

Special Decorations.
The interior of the spacious gymnasium was decorated to represent an enormous Moorish tent. Rich hangings and Oriental rugs covered the walls, the ceiling lights being festooned with streamers of gold and white, the Tech colors.

The garden at the rear of the gymnasium proved a popular rendezvous for strollers during the intermissions. At midnight supper was served from attractively appointed tables, topped with gaily-striped umbrellas, placed in inviting array in the gardens.

Cool Sanders' original night hawk orchestra, which will play for all the dances, furnished a program of late music throughout the evening.

Following the senior hop, the Skull and Key club gave a breakfast dance at Garber Hall. This early morning affair, gathering the members of the college set, and a large number of young girls and visitors to Tech commencement, was one of the gala events of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Woolford Give Al Fresco Tea.

One of the loveliest of the early summer social affairs, was the al fresco tea at which Mr. and Mrs. Cator Woolford were hosts Friday afternoon at "Joceline," their beautiful summer home in Druid Hills.

The grounds surrounding "Joceline" were a riot of color with gorgeous garden flowers and a profusion of climbing roses and was a most exquisite setting for this delightful affair.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Woolford were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bucknell, Jr., of Shanghai, China, who are spending quite a while in Atlanta. Dancing was enjoyed on the terrace. Several hundred of the fashionable society contingent called during the afternoon.

Mrs. Mellichamp To Hold P.T.A. Meeting Tonight.

Mrs. J. C. Mellichamp, newly-elected president of Tech High P.T.A., has invited the officers for the ensuing year and the nominating committee, with their wives and husbands, to meet at her home Saturday evening, June 6.

Mrs. Mellichamp is very anxious to have everything in readiness in September to begin promptly with the year's work. She also seeks the advice of all officers in selecting the council representatives and chairmen of all committees, as it is only through fine team work that Mrs. Mellichamp hopes for a successful year as head of Tech High P.T.A.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Cheney will be honor guest of the occasion.

Never Again

that anxious question
"Will it jell?"

No fruit by itself contains enough jelling substance to jellify all of its juice. That is why, by the old-fashioned methods of jam and jelly making you have to "boil your fruit down" until enough of the juice has boiled away to concentrate the jelling substance in the fruit.

But with Certo, which is simply the natural jelling substance of fruit refined and bottled, you do not have to boil your fruit down. One or two minutes boiling is enough to give a perfect, tender "set." It cannot fail to jell.

This short boil saves the color and flavor of your fresh fruit, so that your jams and jellies look better and taste better. You get a larger amount from your fruit, too, because you save all the juice that used to boil away.

A recipe book comes with each bottle of Certo. Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. Linthicum-Hull Wedding Plans Are of Interest

Much interest accompanies the announcement of the plans for the marriage of Miss Nancy Linthicum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter Linthicum, and Thomas Cobb Hull, son of Dr. and Mrs. Marion Hull, which will take place Monday afternoon, June 7, at 5 o'clock at All Saints Episcopal church.

The marriage service will be performed by Dr. W. W. Memminger, rector of the church, assisted by the Dr. Richard Orme Flynn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church.

Miss Linthicum will be given in marriage by her father, Slaughter Linthicum. She will have as her maid-of-honor her sister, Miss Laurie Linthicum, and her bridesmaids will be Misses Billy Linthicum, another sister, and Miss Julia Gerner.

The little flower girls will be a cousin, Mary Louise Dobbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Dobbs, and Virginia Meier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Meier.

Mr. Hull will have as his best man his brother, Richard Hull, and the ushers will be Thomas Gray Linthicum, Charles Wynn, Lenwood Bowman and Dr. Leslie Morris.

W. E. Arnaud, organist of All Saints, will render the nuptial music and during the assembling of the guests Miss Margaret Battle will sing "Oh Perfect Love."

Following the ceremony at the church, Mr. and Mrs. Linthicum will entertain at a reception at their home, 314 East Fifth Street. Assisting in entertaining will be Dr. and Mrs. Marion Hull, Mr. and Mrs.

Read of Other Women
Who Found Health

Brooklyn, New York—Mrs. G. Hegmann of 35 Central Ave., was in a run-down condition and could not do her housework. She could not sleep at night. Her story is not an unusual one. Thousands of women find themselves in a similar condition at some time in their lives. "I found your advertisement in my letter box," wrote Mrs. Hegmann, "and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got relief." Mrs. Hegmann also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Herb Medicine and Lydia E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipation, with good results. She says, "I am recommending your medicines to all I know who have symptoms the same as mine, and to others whom I think it will help. You may use my statement as a testimonial, and I will answer any letters sent to me by women who would like the information regarding your medicines."

There are women in your state—perhaps in your town—who have written letters similar to this one telling how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped them.

The Law of the Talon

By Louis Tracy

INSTALLMENT XXIV.
A BROKEN VOW.

Furneaux confided in his chief that he'd like John Paton better if he ceased brooding. "What else had the poor devil to do while buried alive in some shack in the wilderness?" Winter asked. "You muddled your head by reading silly romances. Here in London, seated cozily in your office chair while your slaves chase cat burglars over steep roofs, it sounds wildly adventurous to buy pelts from Eskimos and swap strings of beads for elephant tusks with the big black bucks of the Aruwimi river. But there's nothing in it. The fellows who really do such things are bored stiff. I once knew a man from Upper Burmah who was so fed up with living among tigers, snakes and millions of leeches that he persuaded his mother-in-law to come and keep house for him, just to make sure he was still alive."

"Great Scott!" cried Winter. "Something must have bitten you badly. Was it that dog?"

"Ah, that dog! A noble creature. If you like, I suggest if we help John to get a strangle hold on Alistair he donates Spot to Scotland Yard. In a really difficult case that crafty hound would be worth a score of flat-footed bobbies."

The chief sat back and smoked in silence. He had never before known his diminutive aid so wound up after a comparatively mild evening.

"Confound it! No man would have spoken more plainly than I," evening. The literal truth was that both men realized at the same moment that Spot's presence in Great Britain called for explanation, and neither wanted to draw attention to it.

Furneaux, of course, could not let such an opportunity pass. "Get you a new hat, James," he cackled, "that I guess what you're thinking—"

"I'm not buying you any new hat, Charles," said Winter firmly. "On this occasion I would lie sooner than pay."

So Spot had made two new friends in the high places. About the hour that the detectives' car was crossing Westminster bridge the card party at Inverloch broke up. Colonel Grant departed for Glen Inver, some five miles away on the east side of the loch, and the other people went to their own rooms or the billiard room. Eileen waited until she was sure Alistair would not appear again. Then, knowing that Lord Oban was in the habit of sitting up late to read, she went to his private suite and knocked softly on the door.

"Who's there?" came a surprised query.

"Eileen," she answered.

"Come in... What is the matter?"

It was well understood by every member of the household that when the Laird of Inverloch retreated to his den he was not to be disturbed without urgent cause. So she began by apologizing for the intrusion.

"My dear girl," said he, "you are always welcome. But has anything gone wrong? I thought you would be in bed an hour ago."

"It is not very late, Uncle Hector," she said. "I have come to ask a favor. You heard from John this evening. So did Alistair. He showed me his letter. Will you let me see yours?"

"How do you know I received any letter?"

"I was in the hall when Donald brought them."

Lord Oban was seated in a comfortable chair with a reading lamp on a table close to his shoulder. Eileen perched herself on the opposite arm of the chair. For a little while each looked at the other steadily. The man was troubled, the woman quietly insistent. A minor duel was fought between them then and there. Evidently no display of weakness would be forthcoming on either side.

"Why do you persist in mixing yourself up in a family squabble which does not concern you greatly?" said Lord Oban at last. "I think I sense your temperament well enough to believe that you are not particularly disturbed by the fact that while John lives Alistair cannot succeed to the title and estates. At any rate, he cannot assume the title. As for Inverloch, once my unhappy son secures his aunt's money I shall instruct my legal representatives to approach him with a view toward the breaking of the entail. He cannot possibly wish to live here in the future. Where he is concerned it should be a mere matter of compensation."

"Is that what John wrote you about?"

"No. I am telling you my plans, not his."

"Do you refuse my request?"

"I do not wish to pain you."

"Everybody seems very anxious now to spare me the slightest form of suffering. No such consideration was shown when I was coerced into marrying Alistair."

"Pardon me!"

Lord Oban felt he must stand up. He literally could not endure the girl's candid eyes staring into his at such close quarters. But he gained no advantage by this ruse. Eileen rose, too, and faced him squarely.

"You have taken me at a disadvantage," he went on rather angrily. "I have not given this difficulty, for it is one, sufficient thought. At this moment I think it best to decide not to produce any letter."

"Very well," said Eileen. "My only alternative is to communicate with John on my own account. He seems to have forgotten my existence, but he can hardly decline to answer if I write."

"But what do you want to know?"

"The truth, whatever it may be. You, and my father, and Alistair, of course, have conspired to keep it from me. I refuse to be calmed any longer. But that is my affair, much more than yours. I came here tonight because I have always regarded you as an eminently straightforward man. If, for reasons which seem good to you, the conspiracy must go on, I have nothing more to say. Good night, uncle!"

She made for the door. Oban threw out his hands in a gesture of helplessness.

"How could I foresee this wretched impasse?" he cried. "How could any of us—after seven years—when the whole world has been scouring for news of the man who benefited so greatly under my sister's will? Are you being quite fair to me, Eileen?"

"Were any of you three quite fair to me?"

"Confound it! No man could have spoken more plainly than I. Surely you would never have dreamed of marrying one who had been dismissed from the king's service for cowardice!"

"Perhaps those who direct the king's service made a dreadful mistake."

"Eileen, you must not say that. I know whereof I speak. John was tried by a board of officers, and there could not be one man among them who was not ready and willing to give him the utmost possible benefit of any doubt. The last time, as it was also the first time, this unhappy affair was discussed by you and me, I vowed then that I would again open my lips about it. I have broken that vow tonight for sake. Believe me, though an old man and a weary one, I am not Alistair and you are drifting to the edge of a cataract, but in my blame you, not him. Why rush willfully to disaster? And what gain when the smash comes? Nothing—nothing good, that is, but if evil be a gain you will receive a rich harvest of obloquy, and sneers, and the insufferable innuendo born of half knowledge. If you won't accept my advice, get that of an experienced woman of the world. Pour your troubles into Lady Lansings' ears. Be frank with her and she will help. If you wish it, she can see me tomorrow, either with you or alone, and I shall state my case—for our case, as I honestly regard it."

Backward Season Makes Accurate Crop Prediction Impossible, Says Report

Feed Crops Sell at Serious Disadvantage; Wool, Butter and Hogs Continue in Good Exchange.

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—The outlook for the principal crops is still uncertain due to the backward season, the agriculture department said today in its June report on farm conditions, but it sees prospects for "an exceedingly strong market position for hogs for the next few months."

With regard to price relationships, the department said that "among the important crops, potatoes alone continue in spectacular position during April."

"Other cash crops," it went on, "stood at prices which put them not far from a parity on exchange per unit. The feed crops sell at serious disadvantage. Among the live stock products, wool, butter and hogs continue in fairly good exchange position while cattle and eggs are below par but improving. The general index of purchasing power of farm products, in terms of non-agricultural commodities, rose 1 point to 88 during April."

Harvest Is Near.

Wheat harvest will be under way within the month in the southwest and in the Pacific northwest, said the report, the crop being unusually advanced in the latter territory.

"Forecast based on conditions last month," it continued, "suggest a winter wheat crop this year of 540,000,000 bushels or about 150,000,000 more than last year."

"The hog market last month reached the highest point in six years. The price advance was the greatest during any May in 25 years, except for certain wartime inflation years. With the supply of hogs in sight for slaughter not greater than last year, with pork products in storage 27 per cent equivalent to 1,500,000 hogs less than last year, hogs are in exceedingly strong market position for the next five months. The hog-corn price ratio is near the highest on record. It is distinctly time now for hog producers to bear in mind the violent downswing in prices that has been caused in times past by over-expansion under similar price relationships."

Cotton Stock Heavy.

A survey of storage stocks of agricultural products has disclosed that wheat reserves are moderate and that cotton stocks are probably the heaviest since 1921. Butter stocks in cold storage May 1 were four times last year's quantity, but eggs were 1,000,000 less than last year's.

Although a little less time has been made up the season is still late except on the Pacific coast. The work of getting in the crops has gone forward under retreating and expensive handicaps. Dry weather in all sections of the southwest, in the northern wheat belt and in parts of the north has retarded the progress of the work in the west.

Meadows and farm pastures are generally backward, the average condition of pastures having been rated B, the poorest in many years. Corn and cotton are both finally in the ground, the former coming up to fairly good stands, while the latter is still in the cotton looking decidedly spotted.

Under the leadership of American Smelting, which crossed 123 for a gain of nearly 3 points.

Chemicals presented fractional points of strength. Commercial solvents B soared 6 points to 190 and Allied Chemical crossed 21 for a gain of more than 2 points.

Dodge corporation reported that construction contract volume in New York city last month exceeded $84,000, the largest May on record.

Steel shares displayed a relatively firm undertone. The announcement that some of the smaller independent companies had raised prices on certain products for third quarter delivery. Oil shares turned heavy with some of the smaller independent companies having raised prices on certain products for third quarter delivery.

The day's business was largely favorable. The weekly mercantile reviews emphasized that more resistance was being shown to price concessions, and that the declining tendency of commodity prices in the last six months has had no generally disturbing effect. Several favorable earnings reports made their appearance and the P. W. Dodge corporation reported that construction contract volume in New York city last month exceeded $84,000, the largest May on record.

IMAGINATION SEEN AS BIG FACTOR IN LIFE WORK

Chicago, June 4.—(AP)—Imagination, Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co., New York, told the Associated Press today, is the all-important thing.

"Therefore we are driven," he said, "to the conviction that a great part of our education must be upon the cultivation of the imagination. That means the stimulation, the upbuilding, the training of the mind."

"We go to Harvard not primarily to cultivate character, but to cultivate intelligence. Character is supremely important, but it is the intelligence, the intellect, that is the key to success. It is a weak, flabby thing."

"On the other hand, intelligence, properly directed, includes character," he said. "It is the intelligence that is the key to success. It is a weak, flabby thing."

TRADING MODERATE AT NEW ORLEANS New Orleans, La., June 4.—(AP)—The cotton market developed only moderate trading today but the price fluctuations were slightly broader, the spread being 13 to 10 points. At the start prices improved modestly on better cables than due and also in the process of meeting the advance which took place in the northern market during the holiday here yesterday. The early advance carried prices up 7 to 9 points.

Later the map showing of good rains where needed in the belt and the forecast for showers in the eastern belt caused more or less selling which was accentuated in the afternoon by reports of rains in north Georgia. The low of the day were reached in the late trading when prices showed declines from the highs of the morning of 13 to 14 points. The close showed net losses of 6 to 9 points on July an 5 points on active new crop months.

IRREGULAR TONE IN CUB MARKET

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Marked irregularity, reflecting the usual week-end readjustment of speculative accounts, characterized today's Cuban market. Public participation was still on a small scale, but neither was there any concerted selling by professional operators as took place earlier in the month.

Oils were inclined to heaviness with the selling generally attributed to the proposed federal trade investigation of gasoline prices. With the exception of Humble, which yielded a point, most of the losses in the Standard Oil group were held to fractions. A gain of over 2 points in Lion Oil in reflection of large current earnings featured the trading in the miscellaneous group.

Motorists displayed a firm undertone. Stutz rallied a point and most of the others improved fractionally. Baking shares moved within narrow and irregular limits. Ford's crossed 17 to a new high. A brisk advance in Lehigh Coal certificates featured the coal shares.

Other strong spots in the industrial group were Allied Packers, Borden's, Dunhill, Emporium, Grand Stores, General Electric of Germany, St. Regis Paper, Silica Gel and Victor Talking Machine. Atlas Portland Cement, International Projector and United Biscuit B were heavy.

Wentworth of activity and strength in Mohawk Hudson Power was one of the few features in the public utility group.

BOMB EXPLODED AT U. S. LEGATION

Montevideo, Uruguay, June 4.—(AP)—The American legation here was bombed today, this being the second bombing in recent weeks of a United States legation in a South American country, attributed to agitation of radicals over the conviction for murder in Massachusetts of Nicolo Sacco and Bartholomew Vanetti. The United States embassy at Buenos Aires was bombed in May.

The American legation here has been under close guard since the incident at Buenos Aires. The explosion, which occurred while many persons were passing the building, demolished the ceiling of the entrance which is directly under the office of the American minister Hugh Grant Smith, who was not in the building at the time.

The bomb, apparently one of great power, was loaded with pieces of iron, lead, steel, wire and screws. Ten pounds of fragments were collected. Manuel Garcia, a Spaniard and a porter of the legation, narrowly escaped injury.

The police are mystified as to how the bomb was planted without coming under observation. The building was under a special guard day and night. The only persons thus far detained are the police agents charged with guarding the place.

Clubwomen Plan To Rescue Housewives From Drudgery

SOUTHERN CITIES SEEK 1928 CONVENTION

Atlantic City, N. J., June 4.—(AP)—The General Federation of Women's Clubs will go forward in its campaign to rescue woman from drudgery in the home.

This was the spirit of the concluding day of the 18th biennial federation convention which summed up the work of the federation's American home department during the first two years of its existence and emphasized the urban and rural surveys carried on by the department.

Mrs. Maggie Barry, of Texas, chairman, said:

"We believe that any comprehensive program of work for home adjustment must take into consideration: that home-making in the 20th century must be a partnership job between a man and a woman for which both must be trained not only in the practical application of mechanical and scientific knowledge, but in an understanding of life through feeling and imagination; that the vocational status of the woman in this partnership must be raised and the possible moral, social and spiritual contribution of the man must be recognized."

In answer to a questionnaire sent out by the home department one woman wrote:

"For the first time my husband realized I have nothing with which to keep house." Another listed "linoleum on the kitchen floor" as the only improvement in her home and a third reported a "dipper and pail."

"These surveys do not mean an abandonment of the original program, but an enlargement," said Mrs. Barry.

Mrs. John D. Sherman, chairman, announced that a "follow-up program" will be prepared by the federation and no other organization, and an informal vote of the delegates gave promise of support in carrying the rural survey to a successful completion.

Chicago Election Frauds Charged; Probe Is Ordered

REVENUES APPEALS FOR ROAD BONDS

Savannah, Ga., June 4.—(AP)—Unanimous election of the entire slate of officers as submitted by the nominating committee, selection of Atlanta as the 1927 convention city, several ten-minute talks from the floor and a stirring address by Frank T. Reynolds of Atlanta, favoring the proposed $700,000 bond issue, were the closing activities at the commissioners' convention today.

C. B. Jones, of Liberty county, vice president, was elected president. He served as first vice president last year, and is also a member of the Atlantic Coastal Highway commission.

Other officers elected with him for the new year are: R. J. Kennedy, of Bulloch county, Statesboro, first vice president; P. H. Turner, of Richmond county, Bluffton, second vice president; William H. Wright, Savannah, third vice president; N. P. Tift, Sr., Daugherty county, fourth vice president; Fred Houser, Atlanta, secretary and treasurer. The last office was a re-election.

Serving with these officers is an executive committee, both being unanimously elected to office. The latter group are: J. S. G. B. Bages, Pike county, Milledgeville; G. B. Bages, Mitchell county, Camilla; J. H. Griffith, Clarke county, Athens; J. M. Jones, Burke county, Waynesboro; H. C. Beasley, Tattnall county, Reidsville; G. B. Tipton, Appling county, J. B. Bailey, Chatham county, Milledgeville; Columbus; Paul S. Etheridge, Fulton county, Atlanta; W. Tom Wynn, ex-officio, Fulton county, Atlanta.

An idea of what is being done throughout the state to improve roads and also to secure more aid and assistance from the state officials, to make good and satisfactory roads possible, was elicited during the period of ten-minute discussions.

The speakers were: M. Turner, Quitman; E. M. Davis, Mitchell county; A. J. Lippitt, Albany; C. B. Jones, Richmond; Dr. R. C. Kennedy, Statesboro; F. H. Turner, Augusta; Frank Reynolds, Atlanta; Judge William H. Wright, Savannah, and Mr. Gowan, of Crisp county.

Campaign Probe Opens Wednesday

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—Expenditures in the recent Pennsylvania republican senatorial primary will first claim the attention of the special senate campaign investigating committee, which will begin public hearings in Washington next Wednesday.

Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, chairman, was directed today by the committee to issue subpoenas for the chairmen and treasurers of the campaign committees of Representative Vane, the successful candidate, and Senator Pepper, republican, Missouri. The treasurers will be required to produce their books and records for the inspection of the investigators.

After these witnesses have been heard, the committee will decide what evidence it will not be possible to obtain from the records of the two million dollars and five million dollars which were spent in the campaign which ended on May 18.

Besides considering the Pennsylvania primary, the committee tentatively decided that it would inquire also into the republican senatorial primary campaign in Illinois in which Frank L. Smith was nominated over Governor William B. Maestri.

The request of former Senator Brookhart that the committee visit Iowa before the primary next Monday to inquire into expenditures in the senatorial nomination campaign there was discussed, but the committee decided that this would not be possible if the situation warrants the committee probably will visit that state later.

Theosophical Leader Denies Krishnamurti Is 'Messiah'

MRS. BESANT SEES HINDU AS 'INSTRUMENT'

London, June 4.—(AP)—The young Indian teacher Krishnamurti, who has been surrounded by much mysticism since his childhood and has been hailed as the "new Messiah" in some quarters, is now in London with his patroness, Mrs. Annie Besant, president of the International Theosophical society.

Krishnamurti, it has been reported recently, expects to visit the United States soon, first going to Italy for a period of rest and study.

Mrs. Besant today reiterated a statement given to the Associated Press at Madras, India, last January, that she never applied the term "Messiah" to Krishnamurti. She declared, however, that she believed he was the instrument through which a great "world's teacher" would reveal a "new civilization."

Mrs. Besant and Krishnamurti are at the home of friends in Wimbledon Common. The young Indian, she said, would not address any public meetings in London but may speak at some private gatherings.

Krishnamurti, she said, belongs to a high caste Hindu family and is about 30 years old. He has a winning, simple personality and a very beautiful face," Mrs. Besant added.

Telling of revelations which Krishnamurti has reported to his followers, the theosophical leader said that there was nothing marvelous in his experiences for inspiration of a similar kind has long been recognized in all of the arts.

"You will remember," she said, "that Mozart passed into conditions in which he heard a musical piece as a single impression and later he put it into notes. Tennyson, too, experienced states of that kind. All geniuses of the world have experienced kinds of conscious inspiration."

"On one remarkable occasion Krishnamurti suddenly spoke with a different voice as though some unuttered truth was actually speaking verbally through him. This kind of communication may develop later. Meantime I regard him as a medium of the great world teacher."

RANCHER OFFERS ALIBI IN OSAGE MURDER TRIALS

Pawhuskan, Okla., June 4.—(AP)—William K. Hale, Osage hills rancher, was painted as a philanthropist and a law-abiding citizen today by J. I. Howard, Oklahoma City attorney, who made the opening defense statement in the trial of Ernest Burkhart, the state's chief witness in the case of the murder of W. E. Smith, another ranchman. The state's case was closed today.

The state charges that Hale's money paid for an expedition to destroy Smith's home in Fairfax in 1923, killing him, his Osage Indian wife and their maid. Since Burkhart's part was alleged to be only that of an accomplice, the intent of Howard's statement chiefly was to show that Hale was not capable of the crime.

Smith was depicted by Howard as a drunkard and a bad character to whom Hale had extended financial assistance rather than incur his enmity.

The attorney said evidence would be presented to show that Hale was in Fort Worth, Texas, at the time of the explosion; that up until the time of his arrest his actions were normal and that he surrendered voluntarily when a warrant was issued for him.

LOCARNO PEACE PACT RATIFIED BY FRANCE

Paris, June 4.—(AP)—The senate ratified the Locarno security agreements today, after Premier Briand made a plea in their behalf. The vote was 272 to 6.

"The Locarno Pacts," the premier declared, "justify neither exaggerated optimism nor the exaggerated pessimism which has caused the world to believe that those two peoples must be eternally condemned to read each other? I cannot, won't believe it."

Germany had been criticized for signing the Russo-German treaty, the premier said, but in his opinion, the treaty did not possess the character attributed to it. It was, in effect, but a treaty of neutrality, he said.

Prince of Sweden Fails To Discover American Faults

New York, June 4.—(AP)—If American people have faults the crown prince of Sweden has not been able to discover them in the nine days he has spent in America.

That is what the heir to the Swedish throne told reporters who interviewed him in the Hotel Plaza today.

"Americans are nice and friendly," the crown prince said. "Undoubtedly they have faults, but I haven't discovered them yet."

President and Mrs. Coolidge "impressed" him, the crown prince said. The white house he thought was "architecturally beautiful." "Jazz amuses me," he said, "but I prefer other forms of music."

At a luncheon to editors in the Century club, the crown prince thanked the press for the enthusiastic reception given him by American papers and people.

Moody Says Liquor Will Be Eliminated Within Five Years

Prohibition as it now stands on the statute books will be completely effective in the United States within five years and whiskey drinking will be as rare as the use of dope, with the same popular contempt for the drinker as that now exists for the drug fiend, it was forecast by the Rev. George Moody, evangelist, in his sermon at the tent tabernacle at the Whitehall-Park street intersection in West End Friday night.

The preacher asserted that opposition to prohibition that had been expressed since only in some quarters when the radical nature of the change was first felt, has been entirely subsided and that recent elections not only of national officers, but of sheriffs and other officials directly charged with enforcement, demonstrated overwhelming popular sentiment for strict observance.

"This means that every public official who flirts with the rum trade is due for a swift kick in the pants from the voters," he said.

The sermon subject was "The Man Up a Tree," in which the evangelist dealt with modern social problems from the standpoint of what Christ would have done. Law observance, he asserted, is one of the cardinal points of Christian living. The subject of the night will be "The Holy Spirit and Fire," and on Sunday night will be "The Second Coming." No service will be held Sunday morning.

The Rev. Adlai Loudy will continue his Bible lecture series at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

HEATER BLAZE SENDS SCORES TO CHILD'S AID

Sirens screamed, whistles shrieked, trucks and automobiles crowded together and a Grady ambulance thundered out South Pryor street Friday afternoon, all because the two tiny hands of 14-month-old Marion Cowley, Jr., had playfully upset an oil stove in the home at 12 Buena Vista avenue.

Had it not been for the painful burns the little boy sustained he might have enjoyed the evidence of so many pretty and different kinds of motor vehicles and apparatus that jammed about the home, with firemen clad in rubber coats and rain hats bobbing here and there, while a doctor in a white duck suit and policemen added to the color of the crowd that invaded the home.

Although suffering intensely from burns, Marion was crying loudly enough to stretch his big eyes about and take in the excitement with an apparent sense of humor. He didn't have time to watch the fire fighting for he was hurriedly placed in an ambulance that sped away to Grady hospital where his burns were treated.

Marion is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Cowley. He was in the kitchen when he upset an oil stove and caused enough excitement to last the neighborhood for months.

WARE COMPANY FREE OF SMALLPOX PLAGUE

Waycross, Ga., June 4.—(AP)—For the first time since February this city and county are entirely free from smallpox. Dr. G. E. Atwood, health commissioner for Waycross and Ware counties, announces.

For months the department has been conducting a campaign of disinfection through inoculation.

COMMUNISTS RIOT AT INAUGURATION

Warsaw, June 4.—(AP)—Communist demonstration today marked the inauguration of Ignatz Moscicki as president of Poland. Tonight the political police arrested a number of communist leaders. They also seized two communist printing plants and several tons of seditious literature.

Moscicki, until a few days ago a comparatively obscure professor in Lemberg university, was formally inducted into office at noon today. The ceremony took place in the historic castle of the Polish kings.

The only untoward incident of the day was the demonstration by the communists, which came immediately after President Moscicki had taken the oath of his office before the national assembly which elected him president on Tuesday. After Marshal Pilsudski had declined the office the previous day.

States of "we want the political prisoners released" and "give us work for the unemployed" were heard. The acting president, M. Rataj, tried to silence the communists, without avail, when the assembly, with vigorous cries of "long live Poland!" "Long live the president!" drowned them out.

The interim cabinet, set up after the coup d'etat of Marshal Pilsudski brought about the resignation of President Wojciechowski and the Witos government, presented its resignation through Premier Bartel, but President Moscicki refused it to carry on until a new ministry is appointed.

Plea for Funds Closes Session Of Suffragists

Paris, June 4.—(AP)—An appeal for funds ended today the session of the international woman suffrage alliance congress. Mrs. Francis Sterling, treasurer, after submitting the financial report, closed the session with the words: "All we have between us and shutting down is 361 pounds sterling."

The delegates from the United States pledged $1,000 annually for three years. Other nations made lesser pledges.

Women members of parliaments here for the congress spoke at an open meeting of the alliance at the Sorbonne tonight.

PASTORS STAGE BLOODY BATTLE ON CHURCH STEPS

Red Bluff, Cal., June 4.—(AP)—Culminating verbal battles between factions of members of the First Baptist church here, the Rev. J. Brooks Frost, resident pastor, and the Rev. G. Higginbottom, visiting evangelist, exchanged a score of blows on the church steps. Both ministers were bleeding from facial lacerations when witnesses separated them.

Trouble arose in the congregation when Charles C. Dale, head of a faction opposing Mr. Frost on the ground that his advocacy of "praying for the sick" and other practices were contrary to Baptist tenets, demanded the key of the church and when it was refused, took possession of the church.

Mr. Frost called on Sheriff M. O. Ballard to eject the invaders from the church, but the sheriff declined to take any action without court order. Mr. Frost mobilized his own supporters and marched to the church.

REAL ESTATE DEAL INVOLVES $450,000

In a deal involving $450,000 worth of Atlanta property the Oakland automobile building at Spring and Hunt-nut streets was sold Friday through W. L. and John O. DuPre by Mrs. Bertha M. Swift to Gary Vinson, of Waynesboro, it was announced. Mr. Vinson gave, in part payment for the Oakland building, a lot at Spring and James streets, valued at $18,000, and store buildings at Ponce de Leon avenue and Ford place.

The Oakland building is one story and basement with a frontage of 200 feet on Spring street. It is under a long lease to the General Motors company and contains a motor company and part of the building is subleased to the Lincoln Motor company. The transaction was the second largest real estate deal announced during the week.

The Ponce de Leon property, given by Mr. Vinson in part payment, consists of five stores located directly east of the Ford plant, which are under a total of $600 a year.

The Oakland plant is leased for three years for $10,500 a year and $20,000 a year for the next five years, with an option of 10 more years at $21,000 a year.
